President Signs $4,888,000,000 Work Relief Bill

HUGE WORK PROGRAM TO START SOON

Measure Rushed to President at Jacksonville After Passage Friday

STARTS FOR CAPITAL

Arrival in Washington to Be Signal for Putting Plans Into Operation

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 8.—(UP)—President Roosevelt today signed the $4,888,000,000 work relief bill.

The signature completed the task of writing into law the machinery to carry out his announced intention that "we must quit this business of relief."

The bill was rushed to the president after final passage by the house and senate Friday ended a stormy progress through congress that started 60 days ago.

In signing the bill, Mr. Roosevelt placed at his disposal the largest lump sum appropriation in history of the nation.

It will be dispersed in a mighty effort to start the normal wheels of industry moving again and to eliminate the relief rolls of depression.

Government plans for putting the huge work program into operation virtually are complete. The president, cutting short his fishing trip, will arrive in Washington tomorrow.

His arrival was expected to be the signal for putting the government spending machinery into gear. The full outline of his plans is then expected to become known.

Already it has been indicated that three officials will divide the task of actual administration of the unprecedented fund. These are Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins, PWA Administrator Harold L. Ickes and Undersecretary of Agriculture Rexford G. Tugwell.

Frank Walker, former head of the national emergency council, also was mentioned for a place on the board.

No administration measure since President Roosevelt took office has aroused so much congressional debate. In the final passage, however, the bill was supported by big majorities in both house and senate.

Although several restrictions were placed on spending the fund, the bill was considered by administration leaders to be satisfactory to the president. Most of the restrictions actually were so general as to allow the president to dispense the money almost exactly as originally planned.

The funds are expected to be dispensed in volume rapid and extensive enough to be felt in every channel of American life.

The first task which has been delegated to Hopkins will be the tapering off of direct relief. This will proceed as rapidly as work projects are put into operation. Extensive preliminary surveys of possible work projects have been made with a view to getting them under way as rapidly as possible.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

BEVERLY HILLS, April 8. (To the Editor of The Register.) Well the relief bill is all passed now, all we got to do is just sit back and see who it relieves. I hope the real needy get at least their 10 per cent out of it anyhow. We have ways and means of gathering any sort of information, how much money you earned to a nickel, how many rabbits were born in the Dakotas, how much rainfall fell between here and Honolulu, but we just can't seem to get even a fairly reliable count of who really needs helping and who don't. What would be the matter with taking all our guys who do nothing but gather useless statistics and put 'em on this relief work.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

GERMAN NAZIS VICTORIOUS IN DANZIG VOTING

However, Returns Are Far Below Aims and Ambitions of Hitler

(Copyright 1935 By United Press)

DANZIG, April 8.—(UP)—German Nazis suffered a severe moral setback in Danzig's diet election, returns showed today.

The Nazi party's leading orators had come here to reinforce the high pressure propaganda for which Nazism is noted. The diet election of yesterday was to have been an unofficial plebiscite in which the Germans of Danzig would tell the world they wanted to rejoin Germany. The Nazis shot at a two-thirds majority in the diet as a minimum, but actually hoped for a larger.

Instead they polled 139,200 of a total of 230,000 votes, on the basis of provisional final returns. Their percentage of votes was 60.52. They elected, it was indicated, 44 of the total of 72 members in the diet.

It was estimated that Socialists would have 12 seats. Centrists 9, Nationalists three and Poles and Communists two each.

Their apparent victory was a defeat. They had 38 seats in the previous diet, and in addition three members of other parties turned Nazi, to make their actual total 41. Hence they gained but three seats. They wanted a total of at least 48, and believed they would get more.

In addition, there were charges of Nazi irregular voting and of terrorism to prevent opponents from voting.

The failure of Nazis to win a two-thirds majority for complete control in the diet, and in the senate whose members are elected by the diet, was the more serious because of the invasion of Nazi orators.

Hermann Goering, Rudolph Hess, Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels and others were sent here. Their keynote was sounded by Goebbels in the climactic speech Saturday night.

"The election will have the same result as did those in Germany and the Saar."

WASHINGTON, April 8.—(UP)—Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, new national chairman of the American Red Cross, today launched a national drive to reduce automobile deaths.

Grayson, addressing the annual convention of the Red Cross, pointed out that 100,000 persons lost their lives in accidents last year, two-thirds of them due to motor accidents and accidents at homes.

To meet the danger the Red Cross plans to provide a network of first aid stations along highways.

Grayson said plans were being made to enlist public utilities and other industries with trucks covering regular routes. Employees of these firms would be trained in first aid and furnished with supplies.

HIGH NAVY OFFICER CALLED BY DEATH

WASHINGTON, April 8.—(UP)—Rear Admiral Arthur Lee Willard, who died at his home here yesterday, will be buried Tuesday in Arlington national cemetery.

The admiral, who retired last year, was 65. A native of Kirksville, Mo., he graduated from the naval academy in 1891. He was awarded the navy cross for his services as superintendent of the naval gun factory during the World war. He commanded the scouting force in 1930.

He is survived by Mrs. Willard and a sister, Mrs. Paul Selby of Kirksville.

Register To Give Returns This Evening

Returns from today's election will be furnished tonight by The Register. Persons desiring information are requested to call 87, 88, 89 or 90.

Trained election workers will gather returns for The Register at every precinct in the city. These will be compiled in the city room.

Returns also will be furnished to radio station KREG by The Register and will be broadcast from time to time beginning at 8:15 o'clock.

First returns should be available shortly after 8 o'clock.

TORNADO TAKES HEAVY TOLL OF LIFE SATURDAY

Property Damage and Crop Losses Are Estimated at Millions in Storm

BY THE UNITED PRESS

THE LOWER Mississippi Valley today counted at least 32 dead and nearly 100 injured seriously amid the ruins left by devastating tornado which struck Saturday night.

Property damage and crop losses were estimated at millions of dollars. The trail of destruction extended 100 miles across southwestern Mississippi and into eastern Louisiana. Nine persons were drowned when a house boat was blown over in the Mississippi river near Lake Providence, La.

National Guardsmen patrolled Gloster, Miss., a sawmill town of 1200 persons, where the winds reached their greatest fury. Seven were killed outright there and 40 injured. An estimated 750 were left homeless in the town. Only one telephone was in operation. An undertaker, who is also the jeweler, piled the bodies in his showcases.

Gillsburg, 12 miles away, had 13 dead but escaped with less property damage.

Further eastward, the storm ripped out rows of homes and stores at Woodville, Miss., and blew down the post office at Dolorosa, killing three unidentified negroes who were in the building. The postmaster, Solomon Schwartz, was hurt seriously.

The greatest single tragedy was the destruction of the houseboat, owned by W. B. Houghs, prominent Natchez timber man. Those drowned, along with the owner, were his brother, John Houghs; Haplie Sparks of Oklahoma; A. Abernathy of Lake Providence, and five negroes who worked on the boat. Crews of a government boat and another craft reached the site Saturday.

KIN OF COOLIDGE FREED FROM JAIL

RUTLAND, Vt., April 8.—(UP)—Miss Bertha Moore, 40, distant relative of former President Calvin Coolidge, has been released from jail here after serving five months because she was unable to pay a $5000 alienation of affections judgment.

It was understood Miss Moore had transferred to Mrs. Carmen Gilman her interest in a $35,000 trust fund left by an uncle, former Governor W. W. Stickney of Ludlow.

Miss Moore, former town clerk of Ludlow, was sued by Mrs. Gilman in 1934 for alleged alienation of the affections of Albert Gilman, truck driver and former cemetery sexton.

During the trial, a letter was introduced in which Miss Moore allegedly referred to Gilman as her "sweet potato." Mrs. Gilman was awarded $5000 damages. Ball was withdrawn October 31 last by John G. Sargent, attorney general in the Coolidge cabinet.

CO-OPERATIVES OF STATE GET AID FROM SERA

Official Backing and Financial Support Pledged by Commission

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8.—(UP)—Self-help cooperatives formed by California unemployed had the full cooperation today of the state relief commission.

The commission, in a meeting here, adopted a plan sponsored by Winslow Carlton of the SERA and instructed Frank J. McLaughlin, state relief administrator, to take certain steps which would help making the self-help program successful.

McLaughlin was told to communicate with state and county government officials asking that agencies under their charge purchase products of the cooperatives "to the fullest extent possible."

It was pointed out that governmental purchases of such products would permit the self-help groups to repay the loans advanced from relief funds and thus reduce the cost of the movement.

It also approved the allotment of $5,000,000 of relief funds for financial support of the various groups.

The action followed an attack on the commission in Sacramento yesterday by members of the state legislature, who charged it had been dilatory in adopting a policy.

Loans made by the commission to the production co-operatives may be repaid in goods whenever possible—the goods in turn to be used for other relief purposes—under the program.

Supervisors and purchasing agents of California counties were urged to lend their support by using such self-help products as conform to price and quality standards in public institutions under their control.

RAILROADS BLOCKED BY SNOW AND SLUSH

OROVILLE, Cal., April 8.—(UP)—Slides blocked transcontinental railroads near Oroville today, forcing passengers to walk short distances through the snow and slush to transfer trains.

Five trains, four of them passenger carriers, were held up behind a mammoth slide in the Feather river canyon 25 miles north of Oroville. Eastbound train passengers were transferred to the west bound and each train reversed its direction.

A force of 60 railroaders attacked the slide, which measures 90 feet in length and 10 feet in depth. It was estimated it would require 60 hours to clear it away completely.

A second slide delayed the Western Pacific scenic limited at Bloomer. The train was rerouted over Southern Pacific lines.

Two slides tied up east bound traffic on the Great Northern between Keddle and Bieber. Trains were rerouted through Sacramento.

UPSIDE DOWN BOY'S CONDITION IS GOOD

FALL RIVER, Mass., April 8.—(UP)—Jimmy Neilson's temperature dropped to normal today and the California upside-down stomach boy's general condition was described as "good."

A bulletin issued at 9 a. m. EST at Truesdale hospital read: "Temperature normal. Pulse 100. Respiration 24. Discomfort subsiding. General condition good."

The 13-year-old boy's inverted stomach, righted in a 90-minute operation performed by Dr. Philmore E. Truesdale, today was to receive orange juice and milk as he was placed on a graduated diet.

O. E. Steward Killed Near Parker Dam

Four Other Anaheim City Officials Also Injured Near Aqueduct

O. E. STEWARD, director of the Metropolitan Water District and president of the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce was killed yesterday 60 miles west of Parker Dam when the right rear tire of the car in which he was riding collapsed. E. P. Haggood, Anaheim city engineer who was driving the car received deep gashes above the eyes.

City Clerk Charles Griffith, Ewald Lempe, assistant city engineer and Councilman M. E. W. Martenet Jr., also passengers in the car, were injured. The injured arrived in Anaheim this morning and Griffith and Lempe were taken to the Anaheim Sanitarium for observation. Griffith received back and neck injuries and Lempe's back was painfully wounded. Councilman Martenet received cuts and bruises was taken to his home as was Haggood.

Steward and other occupants of the car in which he was riding were members of a party of 16 city officials making an inspection tour of the Metropolitan Water District project, Parker Dam and Boulder Dam. They were riding in a City of Anaheim car when the tire blew out. The accident happened on Aqueduct highway near Rice Station. The injured men were rushed to the hospital at Parker Dam.

According to reports by Haggood, the car driven by Haggood, was in the lead of the motorcade. The tire blew out and the wheel crumpled. The car turned over crushing Steward's chest and inflicting head injuries.

Steward had been a resident of Anaheim for many years and prominent in engineering circles for 30 years, was at one time city manager in Anaheim. Recently he was elected president of the chamber of commerce. He formerly was president of the Anaheim Kiwanis club.

He was the engineer in charge of construction of the Orange county outfall sewer which was completed approximately 10 years ago and at the time of his death was maintenance engineer for the project. He had served as director of the Metropolitan Water District since the inception of that organization in 1929 and was a director in the Anaheim Citrus Fruit Exchange and two banks. He also was a minister having been ordained several years ago when working on a construction job in Texas.

In addition to his widow, Mrs. Jessie Steward he is survived by a son Dr. Wendel Steward of University of Ohio who is flying here to attend the funeral, and a daughter Katherine of Anaheim.

Funeral arrangements are in charge of Backs, Terry and Campbell and will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow at the White Temple Methodist church here.

Rev. C. Harker, pastor of that church officiating. He will be assisted by Dr. George Warner, pastor of the First Methodist church of Santa Ana. Interment will be private.

ALVIN KARPIS IS SOUGHT ON COAST

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8.—(UP)—The federal agency that wiped out John Dillinger, "Baby Face" Nelson and "Pretty Boy" Floyd intensified its search in the far west today for Alvin Karpis, last "big shot" gangster remaining at large.

Department of justice agents, proud of their record in previous outlaw hunts, were scattered between Reno, Nev., and San Francisco with orders to get the man who figured in the Bremer kidnapping in St. Paul, Minn., and who late last year shot his way out of a police trap in Atlantic City, N.J.

There was evidence that Karpis might have had his face "lifted" to prevent identification.

LOBBY PROBES REPORT FILED WITH SENATE

Proposal to Establish Four Year Colleges Also is Before Solons

SACRAMENTO, April 8.—(UP)—Lobbying investigations and a proposal to establish four-year state colleges in seven California localities occupied the attention of the legislature today as it began the sixth week of its spring session.

Reports based on the investigation of statements that Nathan J. Elliott, Los Angeles, truck association manager, that he boasted control of the Southern California assembly delegation and could pass or defeat any bill for $33,000, were submitted to the senate.

One was the majority report, signed by Senators W. P. Rich and Ralph E. Swing, members of a special committee. It found that Elliott had boasted of legislative control but had received no money. It recommended that the committee be continued to handle any similar occurrences.

This report was adopted in the face of opposition by Senator Walter McGovern, San Francisco, minority committee member who insisted his report, advocating a general investigation of all lobbying activities, be approved instead.

"If Senator McGovern has any definite information of illicit lobbying, as he claims, he should file a report or else apologize to the senate for reflecting upon the honesty of its members," Senator Swing said.

McGovern characterized the majority report as "a light slap on the wrist of lobbyists."

"We should go further," he insisted, "and investigate all lobbying."

Adoption of the majority report was believed to have ended the lobby controversy in the senate, unless specific charges of irregularities are made by members.

While the senate discussed lobbies, the assembly began consideration of a bill which would create four-year state colleges at San Diego, Santa Barbara, Fresno, San Jose, San Francisco, Arcata and Sacramento. The present teachers colleges at the first six places would be converted into full-fledged colleges of letters and sciences, offering four-year courses, and the Sacramento junior college would be enlarged into a four-year institution.

BUTCHER SHOPS IN LOS ANGELES CLOSE

LOS ANGELES, April 8.—(UP)—Forty retail butcher shops in the "Brooklyn" section of the city closed their doors today as the latest development in the housewives' meat "strike" directed at the high cost of living.

The action, announced by M. Geiber, president of the Kosher Butchers' association, followed a hair pulling street fight last week between shoppers and militant housewives who were picketing the meat markets.

"We intend to remain closed until strikers promise to stop picketing and stop these disorderly demonstrations," Geiber said.

The picketing housewives are members of the "United front against the high cost of living," and are not affiliated with the Los Angeles Housewives' league which engineered the original campaign against the use of meat as a means of lowering food prices.

LATE FLASHES

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 8.—(UP)—President Roosevelt went aboard his special train here today and gave orders to proceed directly to New York, where tomorrow he will attend the funeral of Warren Delano Robbins, minister to Canada.

SACRAMENTO, April 8.—(UP)—Heavy rains and accompanying flood waters claimed at least four lives in northern California today as the toll of damage from one of the state's worst storms continued to mount.

KILLED

O. E. Steward, president of the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce, and a director in the Metropolitan Water District, who was killed in an automobile accident near Parker Dam.

SECURITY BILL PROBLEM SENT TO PRESIDENT

House Leaders to Ask Roosevelt to Intervene on Gag Rule Question

WASHINGTON, April 8.—(UP)—House leaders decided today to ask President Roosevelt to intervene and help settle the fight now disorganizing house party ranks over the question of a gag rule for consideration of the economic security bill.

Democratic members of the ways and means committee planned to confer with the president tomorrow. If he gives unqualified approval to the security bill, as drastically redrafted by the committee, a gag rule to protect the measure probably will be sought.

Speaker Joseph W. Byrns said, however, that the president would not be asked to take a stand on the gag rule issue itself. "The question of rules is for the house to decide," said Byrns.

However, if the president accepts the bill in its present form, effort probably will be made to bind the Democratic majority to support the president and pass the bill "as is."

House consideration of the bill has been put off for several days due to the gag rule fight. The rules committee postponed a hearing on a rule today and the ways and means committee Democrats delayed a final vote on whether to ask a gag, pending a White House conference.

Telegraph offices have been swamped for 24 hours with telegrams, mostly from the west coast, asking house members to vote against a gag. Most of the telegrams were from Townsend Old Age Pension plan supporters—eager to have a house vote on the radical $200 a month proposal.

High administrative officials, including Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, have been disturbed over reports of powerful efforts to liberalize the security bill. Miss Perkins offered her aid in a move to put the bill through as now drawn, it was reported.

Leaders generally are opposed to a gag, due to the fact polls of the Democratic membership indicate a gag would probably be defeated by the house anyway.

CHICAGO POLICE IN HUNT FOR KIDNAPER

CHICAGO, April 8.—(UP)—Police leading squads of vigilantes began an almost house-to-house search of a large northwest side community today for 4-year-old Richard Max Perrot and a suspected maniac who abducted him.

The child, a mute since birth, disappeared Thursday after visiting a candy store near his home with an overall-clad man.

Miss Margaret Octon, clerk in the candy shop, spurred searchers to new efforts today with a report that she saw the same man on the street last night. She ran from the shop and pursued him, but lost his trail in a crowd.

LATE VOTING IS EXPECTED BY OFFICERS

Slightly More Than Fifteen Percent of Registered Vote is Cast by Noon

RAINS ARE INJURIOUS

Get Out Vote Committee Busy and Hopes to Get Out 50 Percent Ballot

LATE VOTERS will determine the result of today's municipal election in Santa Ana, it was indicated at noon when only 15 per cent of eligible voters had cast their ballots, according to a survey by the Register.

Lightening skies, inviting voters to come forth and exercise their duty as citizens by indicating their preferences for municipal offices, gave promise of much heavier voting this afternoon.

It was believed the total vote cast before the polls close at 7 o'clock would approximate 40 to 50 per cent of the registration, although efforts of the Get-out-the-Vote committee, combined with intense interest in the economy issue, might result in a larger total as a result of this afternoon's voting, ending at 7 o'clock.

At the fire hall on North Syracuse street, a total of 85 had voted up to 12 o'clock, out of a total registration of 477. This was the precinct which recorded a 100 per cent vote in the election last fall.

At the Y. M. C. A., out of 450 registered, a total of 82 had cast their ballots at noon. Seventy-seven had voted at 207 North Main street out of 320 registered.

At the Chamber of Commerce, 84 had voted out of approximately 500 registered.

At the Hoover school, 63 had voted out of approximately 500. At the Lincoln school, 48 had cast their ballots out of 450 eligible.

At the Edison school, 52 had voted up to noon; 55 at Wm. Wiedland's garage; and 68 at the J. A. Gajski building, 1015 West Sixth.

Aerial bombs today warned voters that but a few short hours remained in which to vote, and an urgent request for all men and women to exercise their obligation as citizens was made by Edward Hall, president of the Breakfast club and chairman of the Non-Partisan Get out the Vote Committee.

"Maybe the showers kept you from voting this morning," said Hall, "but by all means make it a point to cast your ballots before 7 o'clock this evening. After that it will be too late. It will be better for you to have voted, than to wish you had."

ACTION DELAYED ON WAR PROFITS BILL

WASHINGTON, April 8.—(UP)—Final house action on the McSwain war profits elimination bill was delayed again today when Rep. Roy O. Woodruff, R. Mich., demanded that an engrossed copy of the bill be read.

An engrossed copy is a printed copy which includes all amendments inserted in the house. It must be available to all members. Usually, reading of the engrossed copy is dispensed with by unanimous consent but Woodruff maintained that there was so much disorder in the house that members could not hear the clerk read the single amended copy of the bill available.

Speaker Joseph W. Byrns said that it was possible that an engrossed copy of the bill would be available late today.

Voters Urged To Vote In Late Hours

This paper will reach some of the voters who have not yet voted.

It is not too late. The polls do not close until 7 o'clock.

Go to the polls and register your convictions, whatever they may be! It is a great privilege to vote.

MISSION TOWN END OF ROAD FOR WANDERER

He was just a knight of the road, with his pack on his back. Sometimes he walked the edge of the highway, sometimes the railroad track was the open road for him.

Nobody knew how long he had been on the bum, or perhaps that tragedy caused him to undertake the life of a wanderer. His identity, his relatives, his former life and positions are unknown.

But his wanderings on this earth are over, and he was picked up—just an itinerant who had dropped dead—upon the railroad track at San Juan Capistrano early Saturday evening.

In the man's blanket bundle was a small piece of pork, evidently given him by some kindly soul for a roadside stew. How he could have eaten the meat was a mystery, for there was not a tooth in his head.

Coroner Earl Abbey, called to investigate the case, sent the body to the Divul Mortuary at San Clemente, pending investigation and identification.

Abbey described the man as being 5 feet 4 inches in height, about 75 to 80 years old, bald headed, grey crooked beard, and blue eyes, with no identifying marks or scars on the body.

He may have been somebody's dad. He may have served the world in useful fashion in days gone by.

But he will go to a nameless pauper's grave unless someone comes forward within the next few days who can identify the aged body, which came to the end of the trail on a railroad spur at San Juan Capistrano.

BISHOP ADDRESSES REVIVAL AUDIENCE

A stirring sermon on the subject "Why I Am a Christian," by Bishop I. D. Warner, of the United Brethren church, drew a large crowd to that church last night, for continuation of the joint revival meetings conducted by the United Brethren and Evangelical churches.

Bishop Warner paid a tribute to his mother, and to all Christian mothers, in explaining his Christian life.

His text was "I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ for it is the power of God unto salvation of all who believe." At the close, he made an appeal to all to dedicate their service to the Lord, to which there was a response from the audience.

Another capacity crowd is expected this evening when Bishop Warner preaches again. Tonight he has been designated "officials night" at the meetings.

Husband Has Wife Jailed for Taking His Automobile

Mrs. Beatrice Crist, 19, 246 North Glassell street, Orange, was booked in the county jail Sunday on a charge of grand theft brought by her husband, E. A. Crist, Mrs. Crist was arrested by San Francisco police. Mrs. Crist is charged by her mate with taking the family car and leaving home. She appeared in the court of Judge A. W. Swartz this morning and was released to appear again Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Crist claimed joint ownership with her husband in the automobile purchase contract.

LUCY CRAIG ON FOURTH DAY OF HUNGER STRIKE

"I am feeling fine, but a little wobbly in the knees," Miss Lucy Craig said this morning when she started her fourth day of hunger strike, a protest at the method of placing people on the "dole" when they might be placed at work needing doing. Miss Craig, of Brea, an accountant, started her strike Friday following her notification of S.E.R.A. headquarters at Santa Ana that she would not accept checks for direct relief, or "charity," for food rations. She had previously been notified that she was "severed from her job" at the Brea-Orange Cooperative Exchange, where she was the third book-keeper to have been placed on that job.

In making a statement as to her reason for striking against the dole, at the Presbyterian church in Fullerton last night, Miss Craig said she was in social service work in the middle west for six years and watched the morale of people break under acceptance of dole. She said the people of the Cooperative are people who have struggled to keep off the dole, and that to take them off of jobs needed doing, that people be given those jobs rather than on dole to continue a process of breaking morale.

"I blame no S.E.R.A. workers for this attitude; I believe they do not understand what they are doing to people."

"I am not asking that everybody be given a job. I am only asking that where there are jobs for people, and jobs that need doing, that people be given those jobs rather than dole."

"It will cost no more; now at Brea Cooperative the store keeper is receiving more as a dole than he did as an employee; but he is still working, and working hard, because he believes in the Cooperative," she said.

"There are other jobs needing doing there, and if there, other places. The work I was doing needs doing, and I intend to do it," she said, referring to keeping the government books for the Cooperative. She was one of the early organizers of the Unemployed association movements.

"Gardeners are needed; I want men who are gardening, and receiving a dole also, to be paid for gardening; a woman that handles the sewing room at Brea is also cooking in the kitchen; she works hard at both; other women are getting 'dole' who can handle that cooking, and are willing to. Those women should be placed at work, and their pay, all coming out of the same pocket, should be for work and not be 'dole'."

PANGBORN PLANNING ROUND WORLD TRIP

NEW YORK, April 8.—(UP)—Clyde Pangborn, veteran long distance flier, hopes to circle the world in a four-and-one-half day non-stop flight sometime this summer, in a flight which would start at San Diego, Cal., and end at San Francisco, Cal., a radically redesigned monoplane capable of averaging around 200 miles an hour is being built for the flight at Keyport, N. J. It will carry three persons, Pangborn, Bennett Griffin and Reeder Nichols, plane engineer.

Pangborn's plan is to leave San Diego in late July or early August. He would take the 15,000-mile northern route with refueling points designated as New York, Moscow and Chita, Siberia. If the flight is delayed until October he would prefer a route touching Italy, India, the Philippines and Hawaii.

Wiley Post holds the round-the-world record of 7 days, 19 hours, 46 minutes, made in 1931.

Arrest Mexicans On Gaming Charge

Several Mexicans were arrested on a gaming charge and booked at the county jail early Sunday, following their alleged participation in a black jack game in Art Molina's pool hall in Corona camp, near La Habra.

The arresting officers include Deputy Sheriffs James Ragan and James Musick, and Constable William Tremaine of Brea. Included among those taken into custody were Leonardo Luna, 31, Cirilo Gomez, 35, Santos Molina, 32, Guadalupe Lozano, 24, Carlos Ruiz, 29, Cecilio Gutierrez, 33, all of La Habra and Maximino Reynoso, 38, of Brea.

THEATER OPERATORS IN CODE OPPOSITION

WASHINGTON, April 8.—(UP)—A pledge by 200 theater operators of the northwest not to cooperate with the motion picture code was disclosed today in the senate NRA investigation by Abram F. Myers, counsel for the Allied States Association of Motion Picture exhibitors.

Myers read a telegram from the Allied theaters of the northwest which said:

"We condemn the code of fair competition of the motion picture industry in its entirety and pledge ourselves not further to cooperate in said code unless and until the same has been approved to the satisfaction of the motion picture industry with the resolution of the Allied States Association providing for a code authority consisting of an equal number of representatives of the two economic divisions of the industry and for a new schedule of trade practices."

Condition Critical After Operation

Mrs. W. Lester Tubbs of East Seventeenth street, who underwent an emergency major operation late last week in Monterey hospital, Monterey, rallied from the effects of the operation, according to word received today by her friends, but remains in a critical condition.

W. Lester Tubbs of the Auto Identity Exchange of Orange county, who was called to his wife's bedside Friday, returned to this city to attend to business matters but is leaving for Monterey at once to remain until Mrs. Tubbs is well on the road to recovery. This was her second major operation within the space of a few weeks' time.

Youths Arrested On Burglary Count

Burglary of the Davis dry cleaning establishment at Garden Grove on March 19 was believed solved today, with the arrest of Paul Youn, 29, and Silas Youn, 18, both of Garden Grove, who are said to have confessed.

Both youths were lodged in the county jail Saturday by Deputy Sheriffs James Workman and James Ragan, after the stolen goods, including clothes and a radio, were recovered at Long Beach.

Tasty Dinner To Be Demonstrated

Methods of preparing an unusual and tasty dinner will be demonstrated by Ruth Sampson, of the Southern Counties Gas company home service department, at the regular weekly cooking class tomorrow at 2 p. m. at 207 West Second street. It was announced today.

Dishes on the menu to be prepared include rice ring a la Marye, buttered green peas, tomato jelly, different candied sweet potatoes, old fashioned apple salad and tried and true two-egg cake.

Twenty-Three club tomorrow night in James' cafe. It was announced today. George Hayden will be chairman of the evening.

TORNADO TAKES HEAVY TOLL OF LIFE SATURDAY

dragged the river today searching for the bodies. It was believed all nine were trapped inside the houseboat. Two other negroes aboard the boat made their way ashore but were too badly injured to summon help and the tragedy was not discovered until Sunday morning.

The storm struck Gloster at 10:30 p. m., when most persons had retired. A severe electrical storm drowned out the noise of the approaching winds.

A family named Caston near Gillsburg virtually was annihilated. Rescuers found the body of the mother clutching the body of the 10-year-old daughter in the ruins.

Hospitals at Gillsburg, Centerville and McComb, were crowded. Doctors and nurses worked in the streets of Centerville.

It was feared the death toll would increase when a search of remote farms was completed.

FIREMEN BATTLE POISON GAS FUMES

N. H. Hilton, chemist of 105 West Third street, was busy today repairing damage resulting when a shelf of chemicals crashed to the floor, and caused the fire department two hours of intensive work neutralizing the mixture.

Deadly red fuming nitric acid, sodium cyanide, and many other chemicals in glass containers were on the overloaded shelf when it crashed to the floor, breaking the glass bottles, throwing some of the deadly mixture upon Hilton's trousers, and immediately generating poison gases which would soon prove fatal.

After on whiff of the gas, which he declared was "too much," Hilton dashed from the place and quickly removed his trousers which were being eaten up by the acid mixture, and after borrowing a pair of breeches from Vic Baird next door, was taken to his home.

Firemen Wilbur Fipps, John Garthe, Coley Hargett, and Dwight Miller, called to the scene, donned gas masks in order to enter the room, and drawing on their knowledge of chemistry, used quantities of soda, ammonia, and other materials in order to neutralize the acid mixture and stop the poison gas formation.

But it was a new pair of pants which Hilton lost, and this loss is of almost equal importance, in his mind, to the $50 worth of chemicals destroyed.

Broadway Bill To End Tonight; Open "Laddie" Tuesday

"Folies Bergere," musical extravaganza starring Maurice Chavallier, will end at the Broadway theater tonight, it was announced today by Manager Lester J. Fountain, closing two days earlier than was at first intended. In "Folies Bergere" Chavallier is seen in his first dual role, as his gay, straw-hatted, singing self and also as a be-mustached, be-monocled baron.

Manager Fountain announced the change because he was able to get "Laddie," one of the outstanding productions of the year which ranks with "The Little Minister," "Little Women" and pictures of that calibre, earlier than anticipated.

"Laddie," which opens at the Broadway tomorrow and which will end Saturday night, is one of the sweetest and at the same time most dramatic romances in all fiction. The film version of the Gene Stratton-Porter novel centers attention on Laddie, played by John Beal, and his love for the aristocratic English-born belle, played by Gloria Stuart. Romance and drama pace hand in hand to a glorious climax with all the punch of a powerful narrative.

The second feature on the program tomorrow is "A Night at the Ritz," featuring William Gargan in a rollicking romance. The cast includes such favorites as Patricia Ellis, Allen Jenkins, Dorothy Dare, Eric Rhodes, Berton Churchill and Gordon Westcott.

Travel Class To Hear Address On European Affairs

Francis Murphy, of Los Angeles, will be the speaker at the adult education travel class meeting at 7 p. m. tomorrow in the library of the Willard Junior High school, it was announced today by Julia Ann Hyde, manager of the travel department of the Commercial National bank, who arranges the meetings.

Murphy, after serving with the U. S. Signal corps, was detailed for duty with the U. S. Shipping board, London, and from there to the American Relief Administration missions in Germany, Czechoslovakia and Poland. From Poland he was sent to the Chinese International Famine committee at Shanghai to become director of supplies of a famine in the province of Anhwei.

His talk will give some sidelights of the situation in Central Europe following the war, which is expected to be of great interest due to the present disturbed condition of Europe. He also will give a short resume of the first developments of trade between Europe and the Orient and the Colonial states of America immediately following the revolution.

The public is invited to the meeting, and there is no charge for attendance.

STATE OFFICER FILES CHARGE AGAINST NURSE

Mrs. Belle Grace Dunlop, physician's nurse at Garden Grove, today was charged with violation of the state motor vehicle act in making allegedly false statements when applying for a driving license at county headquarters of the California Highway Patrol.

The complaint, sworn to by Joe Clever, of the patrol, was based upon her alleged statement Saturday, when applying for a driving license, that she had never had a license revoked, suspended, or refused. This is one of the form questions of an application.

Clever, after receiving the application, and issuing a temporary license, said he had a vague memory of having encountered the applicant before. Checking records, he found, he said, that Mrs. Dunlop had been fined $100 and placed on probation for a year, July 23, 1934, and that thereafter, when she failed to comply with a request of the California Highway Patrol to send her license to Sacramento, Officer Horace Inge, of the Orange county squad, took up her license last November 23.

Mrs. Dunlop applied to Clever at local headquarters for a new license on the following day, November 24, and when he refused her application she abused him rudely, he said.

Upon discovering the state of the record, Clever swore out a complaint based upon her statements Saturday in making the license application.

MRS. ANNA C. COLE CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Anna C. Cole, a former resident of Santa Ana, passed away at the home of a daughter, Mrs. M. D. Falconer, of 223 East Alberta street, Anaheim, last night. She had resided in Anaheim for the past 14 years.

Funeral services for Mrs. Cole, who was the widow of the late William D. Cole, will be held from the Backs, Terry and Campbell chapel in Anaheim Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, with the Rev. Thomas H. Walker, pastor of the Anaheim Presbyterian church, in charge.

Survivors are two daughters, Mrs. Falconer and Mrs. J. H. Mulligan, of Anaheim; four sons, J. L. Cole, of Orange; W. W. Cole, of Los Angeles; B. R. Cole, of Brawley, and H. G. Cole, of Vancouver, B. C.; three sisters, Miss Beatrice Gregor and Mrs. Daisy Broom, of Bloomington, Cal.; and Mrs. James Oliver, of Princeton, Ont., Can., and two brothers, C. F. Gregor, of Bloomington, Calif., and J. G. Gregor, of Princeton, Ont., Can.

ENGINEER TO BE SPEAKER AT BUILDERS MEET

C. E. Norenberg, structural engineer, will be the speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Orange County Builders Exchange tomorrow night at 8:45 o'clock in the Costa Mesa Woman's clubhouse. It was announced today by Robert J. Hatfield, secretary of the Exchange.

The program, which will open with a dinner, will be in charge of the painter and paint supplies members of the Exchange. Chet Dietler will act as chairman of the evening. George Vance arranged the program.

Norenberg's experience includes six years of instruction in structural engineering at the University of Illinois. He has had a wide and varied experience in this field and since the Santa Barbara earthquake has been engaged in research work relative to the effect of earthquakes on construction. More recently he has been employed by the Los Angeles and Long Beach boards of education to make a study of earthquake damage for use in future construction of school buildings.

LEGISLATIVE SIDELIGHTS

By United Press

(By United Press)

"We were left holding the sack in 1931," Mark Noon, clerk at San Quentin, told a senate committee when explaining why the prison gates should not be enlarged unless farmers guaranteed to purchase the entire output of jute bags. The jute market collapsed in 1931 and the prison could not dispose of its bags, so had to sell them on the open market.

Some one explained to the agricultural committee that the assembly last year wanted to abolish the prison jute mill and that this year the senate desired to enlarge it. "That's the difference between the assembly and senate," Senator Frank L. Gordon remarked.

"Let's get over this bugaboo that lobbyists are chasing us around hotel lobbies," Assemblyman Ray Williamson said in the midst of a hot argument on a motion to exclude lobbyists from the lower house.

All legislative stenographers sported corsages the other day. They were the gifts of Senator Dan E. Williams, Sonora, who makes the donation a biennial habit.

Lobbyists appearing before committee meetings do not enjoy seeing Senator Edgar W. Stow, Santa Barbara, sitting there. He upsets them with embarrassing questions and makes them come directly to the point.

On the assembly side, Alfred W. Robertson, also from Santa Barbara, derives genuine fun out of spy meetings by putting witnesses "on the spot" and asking questions which usually prove difficult to answer unless the witnesses do not mind committing themselves.

MRS. ROSS HOSTESS

NEWPORT BEACH, April 8.—Mrs. Robert Ross was hostess at a luncheon Saturday honoring Mrs. Ann Fickel and Mrs. Elizabeth Helm, of Minneapolis, who are house guests of Mrs. Ross. Rooms were decorated with flowers from the Ross gardens, carrying out a rainbow motif. Eighteen were present for the affair.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS—By JOHN HIX

One of the strangest rites of the Orient is the annual ceremony of the burial of the dolls outside Tokyo. Attended by Buddhist priests who intone a litany for the spiritual happiness of the dolls, Tokyo's little girls assemble annually in June at the mass funeral for their worn-out playmates.

One by one they bring their "dead" dolls forward to the priest who reads a prayer for their spirits, then all join in the "Song of the Broken Dolls." Then the "remains" are all lowered into a single grave, and on it are heaped flowers, fruit and vegetables.

Only the dolls that are broken or worn beyond repair are buried at the ceremony—for as long as a doll can be mended it is kept through the following year.

Fifteen hundred years ago when Constantinople was one of the most important cities of the world it was the capital of the Roman Empire of the East, and over it ruled the builder-emperor, Justinian the Great. The water supply for the city normally came from the Belgrade forest through large aqueducts. In time of war, however, the enemy might cut these lines and threaten the city with a water famine. Justinian, who is noted as one of the greatest builders of all history, solved this by having great underground cisterns constructed. One is still in use.

Rose Lo Porto Shower Honoree

TUSTIN, April 8.—Miss Rose Lo Porto, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Lo Porto, 120 North Mountain View drive, was delightfully surprised recently when a group of 20 Los Angeles friends and Mrs.

Millard Foster, of Newport road, arrived at her home to stage a miscellaneous shower in observance of her approaching marriage to John Paneno.

The self-invited guests not only brought with them an array of lovely gifts for the bride-elect's future home in Los Angeles, but also supplied material for several games played in the attractive garden at the rear of the home and furnished the two-course luncheon which climaxed the happy occasion.

Miss Lo Porto's nuptials to John Paneno, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Paneno, of Los Angeles, will be an event of April 28 at St. Joseph's Catholic church in Santa Ana. The popular young honor guest completed her studies at the Tustin Union High school several years ago and has been the incentive for several recent showers.

WAR WRITER TO BE SPEAKER AT FORUM MEETING

Dr. W. L. Mellinger of New York, noted war correspondent, will address the Santa Ana Valley Forum Tuesday evening on the subject "A Warless World." The program starts at 7:30 p. m. in the Ebell auditorium.

For a period of more than 10 years, Dr. Mellinger was engaged as war correspondent and educational adviser in Mexico. For another decade he was occupied on the chautauqua platform. During the world war and for a period of five years thereafter, he was chief of the lecture staff for the League to Enforce Peace, working under the direction of former President William Howard Taft, also the late Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts.

Two weeks ago Dr. Mellinger addressed the Long Beach forum. Commenting upon his coming address here, Dr. Frederick Roman, director of the local forum, said: "Dr. Mellinger gives a new explanation for the cause of the world war; also shows why it was inevitable. He further shows that another war is inevitable unless the people awake. He presents a most interesting and fascinating plan that will avoid wars. This plan has the sanction of eminent scholars and promoters of peace."

The meeting is free to the public.

ADVICE GIVEN ON NEW FILMS BY CITY P.-T. A.

Recommendations regarding recently released motion pictures previewed by the California Congress of Parents and Teachers were made public today through Mrs. M. W. Hollingsworth, chairman of the motion picture committee of the Santa Ana Council of Parents and Teachers. Comment on the pictures previewed is as follows:

"Chapayev." Amfink production with Boris Babochkin, Boris Blinov, Barbara Miankov and Leonid Kmit. "Masterful in technique but controversial in theme," "Chapayev" brings to the screen the tragedy of a young Russian communist. A breath-taking film which will prove of interest to select audiences. Adults, thought-provoking, 8-10, unsuitable.

"Enter Madame." Paramount production with Elissa Landi, Gary Grant, Lynne Overman, Sharon Lynn and Frank Albertson. A sprightly, colorful comedy, tinged with grand opera in which Elissa Landi, aided by a good cast, wins her laurels as an excellent actress. Adults, amusing; 8-18, unsuitable.

"I'll Love You Always." Columbia production with Nancy Carroll, George Murphy, Jean Dixon and Harry Beresford. "Tearful, sentimentalizing," "I'll Love You Always" is a romance of a young engineer and his actress bride whose gaiety and pride must be so cruelly wounded before they can see life in its true perspective. Adults and 14-18, fair; 8-14, no.

"In Spite of Danger." Columbia production with Wallace Ford, Marian Marsh, Charles Grapewin and Arthur Hohl. "A commonplace, unreal melodrama, motivated by revenge but unredeemed by fair casting. Adults, uninteresting; 14-1, fair; 8-14, no."

"Ruggles of Red Gap." Paramount production with Charles Laughton, Mary Boland, Charles Ruggles, ZaSu Pitts and Roland Young. "This screen adaptation of Harry Leon Wilson's famous story gives Charles Laughton an opportunity to prove himself a topping comedian. Because of drinking, it is rated as only possible for family. Adults, hilarious; 8-18, possible."

PUPILS IN PROGRAM

WESTMINSTER, April 8.—Upper grade classes of Westminster school were entertained during the assembly hour Friday by eighth grade pupils.

The program included were harmonica numbers by Burton Jones, Dale Hell, Harvey Arnett, Kenneth Stonecker; pantomime play by the major portion of the class; musical number by Betty Jo Shipley; Miss Nellie Franech, fourth grade teacher, favored with a piano selection.

The 32 members of the eighth grade and their class teacher, Claud Hardesty, attended the production of the play "Robin Hood," given by senior class members at Huntington Beach Union High school.

PLAN SPECIAL SERVICES FOR CHURCH GROUPS

FULLERTON, April 8.—Sunrise services on the highest peak in Hillcrest park will be the culmination of a week of pre-Easter services for Fullerton churches, and will be a union service with the Rev. L. I. Chamlee, pastor of the Fullerton Christian church, bringing the sermon.

Joint Good Friday services will be held at the Baptist church from noon to 3 p. m. Friday, April 19, with all ministers of the city taking part.

In addition to these union services, the members of the Baptist church are joining in a week's evangelistic meetings at their church, opening Sunday, April 14, with the Rev. H. F. Shaefer as speaker. William H. Gibbs will direct the singing for the services, which will continue throughout the week, and during Easter Sunday.

"Remember Jesus Christ" will be the theme around which members of the Methodist, Presbyterian and Christian churches will hold a program pre-Easter week, when the Rev. Donald F. Gaylord, pastor of the Brea Congregational church, will be principal speaker of the week.

A committee meeting of the group was held at 5 p. m. Sunday at the Methodist church. Plans as completed at present include a preliminary dinner meeting slated for April 11 at the Presbyterian church at 5:30 p. m. The services will be held starting April 15 at 7:30 p. m.

On Sunday, April 14, separate booster meetings will be held in each church at 6:30 p. m. among the young people.

Dr. Graham C. Hunter of the Presbyterian church is adviser for the "meeting." The music committee is composed of Dorothy Little, John Raitt, Paul Chamlee, Minerva Wiggash, Lester Evans and Mrs. C. W. O'Flynn, adviser; programs and pre-prayer, Mrs. C. R. Vandenberg, adviser, Lucille Tanner, Carl Harris, Joyce Merrill, Virginia Allen, Esther Erdman, Mary Elizabeth Quigley; publicity, Marjorie Allen, Marion Carter, the Rev. Mr. Hunter and Darrell McGavran; ushers, Les Powell, Mary McCrae, Archie McCormick, C. R. Vandenberg and Ed Hoyer; delegation, McGavran, Vinton Wiggash, Gilman Smith and Marion Carter; personal work, Mary Helen Fisher, Kenneth Hixon, Helen Gowen, Barbara Koch and the Rev. E. Dow Hoffman.

VALENCIA DEAL TO BE CENTER TOPIC

ANAHEIM, April 8.—A. H. Kirchmann, manager of the Central Orange County Citrus Exchange, will be the speaker Tuesday night when the Anaheim Farm Center holds its monthly dinner meeting in the high school cafeteria. His subject will be "Prospects for the Coming Valencia Deal."

Kirchmann has announced that he will answer questions from the audience. In addition to the talk L. P. Halderman will give the directors' report and program of music will be presented by Frank Pierce.

Pays Heavy Fine For Disturbance

ANAHEIM, April 8.—Arrested yesterday on a complaint signed by his wife Clifford Preston Leach, 28, oil worker pleaded guilty in police court this morning to a charge of disturbing the peace. He was fined $50 with the alternative of spending 25 days in jail and paid the fine.

The complaint against Leach was issued at request of his wife who charged that her husband had been fighting with her and had threatened her life.

Art McMillan, 48, Van Nuys, was fined $10 with the alternative of spending five days in the county jail when he pleaded guilty this morning to a drunk charge. He was arrested last night when found staggering on the street.

FINAL RITES FOR LUCINDA THOMPSON

ANAHEIM, Apr. 8.—Lucinda M. Thompson, 31, a native of Ohio but a resident of Anaheim 35 years, passed away at an Orange hospital Saturday afternoon after an extended illness. She is survived by two sons, Frank J. Davis and C. T. Davis of Anaheim; one grandchild; two great-grandchildren; one nephew and two nieces. For many years she was a nurse and many homes in Anaheim and vicinity were recipients of her tender ministrations. She was a member of the Seventh Day Adventist church.

Funeral services will be held from the Hilgenfeldt funeral home tomorrow at 2 o'clock. The Rev. J. W. Rich, pastor of the Seventh Day Adventist church in Fullerton, will officiate and burial will be made in the Anaheim cemetery.

Fashion Show To Be Held Soon By La Habra W. R. C.

LA HABRA, April 8.—A noon luncheon and fashion show will be held by the La Habra W. R. C. the afternoon of April 26. The affair will be given in the Masonic temple and a small admission charge is to be made. Mrs. Anna C. Launer, president of the local group, is in charge of the luncheon, and Mrs. L. L. Shaw is chairman of the fashion show.

Other plans made at the regular meeting of the corps held Friday evening included the cooked food sale to be held downtown on the morning of Saturday, April 13.

Reports of the various committees showed that $1 had been given to a newly organized corps; $1 in money for relief work, and $17.50 in relief work other than money; 32 calls and 7 bouquets given in the last month, as well as 41 pieces of clothing. The chairman of the recent bean dinner reported $14.50 netted from this event.

BUENA PARK, April 8.—Beginning a series of set-aquainted teas planned by members of the Friendship Bible class Mrs. Edgar Grabau and Mrs. Homer Kreps entertained at the home of the latter recently. Guests were Mrs. J. W. Sanbury, Mrs. Charles Hillman, Mrs. C. R. Allin, Mrs. A. Grienger, Mrs. J. M. Kennedy, Mrs. Lawrence Hennis and Mrs. H. D. Hardcastle.

CHURCH MEETING SET FOR TONIGHT

FULLERTON, April 8.—The business and social calendar of the Fullerton Methodist church for next week includes, first, a Sunday school board meeting at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the church parlors. Reports from all departments and from adult classes are to be given, and a program will be offered.

The church dining room will be open at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday for the International Relations council dinner, and a meeting that follows, where the Rev. Rogers C. Cumberland will talk on "The Situation in the Middle East."

Two circles of the Ladies Aid will meet April 11, the Westside at the church at 2 p. m. for sewing, with Mrs. W. A. Goodwin, Mrs. A. N. Stanley and Mrs. C. C. McProud as hostesses; the Eastside with Mrs. S. W. Miller, 520 West America, at 2 p. m. for sewing.

JUNIOR EBELL IN PLANS FOR DANCE

ANAHEIM, April 8.—Plans for the second annual dinner dance of Anaheim Junior Ebell club, scheduled for Saturday evening April 20, have been announced by Miss Dorothy Yungbluth, president of the organization. The affair will be held at the Lakewood Country club.

According to Miss Yungbluth committees already are at work preparing for the event. Mrs. Richard Ryan is in charge of reservations which must be made not later than April 17. Miss Kathryn Dunham and Miss Elva Hamler are in charge of orchestra arrangements and decorations are being installed by the following committee members, Mrs. John Dunn, Mrs. Jack Iahn and Mrs. Marion Fort.

TERRILL TO TEACH EXCELSIOR CLASS

FULLERTON, April 8.—Increased interest in the study of mineralogy is indicated in the fact that a class will be started at Excelsior High school, where A. C. Terrill, teaching four classes at Fullerton Union High night school, will teach each Friday night.

The four Fullerton classes will meet this week in room 16 instead of room 23, to study the minerals that Alexander Anderson gathered when he was teaching mineralogy during the period he was developing his process of underground survey of oilwells.

Fullerton Personals

FULLERTON, April 8.—Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Thompson plan to leave Tuesday for an extended trip through the east.

Mrs. Emma Tousey Pierce, pastor of the Fullerton Church of the Nazarene, and her infant son, David Rand Pierce, were taken to their home on West America Saturday from the Fullerton Cottage hospital.

The garden section of Fullerton Ebell club is arranging two meetings for April, one April 9, when a tea will be held at the home of Mrs. Robert Ross at Newport, and one April 18, when Mrs. Charles O. Petty will be hostess at her Laguna Beach home, according to Mrs. W. J. Carmichael, chairman of the group.

WASHINGTON

BRONX COMPROMISE

The Congressional cloak rooms have coined a new phrase—"The Roosevelt Compromise." The use of the word "Roosevelt" before "compromise" gives it the same adverse meaning as the word "Bronx" before "cheer." It implies that you lose your hat, coat, vest and trousers, and all you have is your face.

The phrase has its root derivation in the Congressional experience with the White House on the new Relief Bill.

There was no secret about the fact that all the restrictions placed on President Roosevelt's proposed expenditure of $4,850,000,000 are merely pretended restrictions which do not restrict him at all. It is not quite so well known that the specific restriction requiring Mr. Roosevelt to send the names of his new relief directors to the Senate for confirmation is an even greater joke.

WORDS

The Senate inserted that restriction so it could prevent Interior Secretary Ickes from getting control of any part of the new relief set-up. But the New Dealers put their lawyers to work on the wording of the amendment and found it would not affect Ickes in the small part for which he is slated.

It will affect only those relief directors who have not already been confirmed by the Senate and who draw pay out of the relief fund.

Ickes gets his pay from the Interior Department, Admiral Peoples from the Treasury, Wood from Commerce. Only Hopkins gets his pay from the relief fund. A way probably will be found to keep Hopkins from going through the Senate wringer.

So all you need to know about the new law is that, after six weeks of compromising, it is exactly what Mr. Roosevelt wanted.

LEADERSHIP

A New York Congressman has been nosing around inside the House seeking to upset the leadership. He has not been getting much encouragement. The movement undoubtedly will fail.

Absent floor leader Bankhead, who has been ill since the session started, is now in fairly good health. He takes auto rides nearly every afternoon, these fine spring days. House cronies keep him informed. Their assumption is that, whenever the House gets into a tight place, and the administration needs help, Mr. Bankhead will make a dramatic reappearance on the floor.

Even in Mr. Bankhead's absence, the House Democratic leadership has been unexpectedly efficient so far.

KIDDING

Heartening word is circulating among Liberal insiders that Mr. Roosevelt will come to the assistance of the Wagner labor board bill, if and when his help is needed.

This has cheered up the Liberals, but is not dissipated the doubts of skeptics.

A significant scene was frequently repeated at the White House last year. Senator Wagner would come out of a conference with the President every once in a while, and say, in response to questions, that he thought his bill would go through. Stories were always circulated just like those which are circulating now. You may recall that Mr. Roosevelt never said anything about the bill then and it failed of passage.

REFLECTION

The White House mirrors which ordinarily reflect the President's thoughts are conveying an impression that Mr. Roosevelt will choose a business man as the next Postmaster General.

Such an astounding thing has never been thought of seriously in Washington before. The idea of not having a politician to run the post office department is a vision which has been seen only by the radicals. It violates a custom which has been followed by all modern presidents, Republican and Democratic.

No names are being mentioned. Many months will pass before Farley confines his activities to the chairmanship of the Democratic National Committee, so there is plenty of time.

COMPLEXES

The Blanton outburst against the press in the House a few days ago was applauded by an unusually large number of Congressmen. The explanation is that the average Congressman and the average public official suffer alike from chronic press-persecution complexes. Most men in public life have exaggerated ideas of the importance of the things they are doing. Many sincerely believe that, if the public knew all about them, they would be elected president, or something equally lofty.

But in the recent tremendous growth of big news about New Deal doings, the average Congressman and the average public official have been convinced to even deeper press obscurity. Speeches are no longer considered of importance. Action is the thing the people want to know about.

NEXT

The next major legal challenge to arrest the New Deal will shortly be made on the constitutionality of the TVA. The case is now being prepared.

NEW YORK
By James McMullen

Wendell Wilkie's plan for federal regulation of utilities was, as he says, his own idea. There was no solemn convocation of Edison Institute master minds in advance. But his program has the cordial endorsement of influential circles in the industry and they are prepared to go to bat for it—but only if they are convinced it has a real chance of going places. Utility big shots have become chary of sticking their necks out when it can be avoided. They know darn well that whatever they say will be used against them.

New York sharps are frankly skeptical about Mr. Wilkie's chances of getting his proposals accepted as a substitute for the Wheeler-Rayburn "monstrousity." His ideas are rated too mild to quench the Washington thirst for power company gore.

But there's a widespread feeling of relief that someone in the business has had the nerve to offer something definite. Also it's agreed that Wilkie is an excellent spokesman. His company—Commonwealth & Southern—is one of the heaviest sufferers from TVA encroachments and its record is considered to be unusually free from the abuses cited by the government. He is likely to command more respectful attention from insiders in future than the better-known Floyd Carlsle and Tom McCarter.

STIFFER

Financial experts privately remark that most of the Wilkie reforms are A-B-C stuff. They would virtually eliminate future growth of holding companies and foster simplification of utility structures by the reward of tax relief instead of the punishment of dissolution. Also they would abolish the familiar device of assuring control to a small group by trick issues of non-voting stock.

But the idea of getting away from New York domination by legislating that a majority of operating company officers and directors must come from the territory served is called plain window dressing—easily circumvented if backstagers are so inclined. And some of the other measures imply more psychology than accomplishment.

Utility insiders can be found who concede of the record that a stiffer bill could be framed to give the boys who pull the funny stuff the works without impairing the outlook for legitimate concerns.

JOKER

New York power men aren't as sure as they were that they cotton to this idea of transforming themselves into investment trusts with no say in the affairs of operating subsidiaries.

It isn't so much that they mind losing voting control. One official remarks that no holding company should object to that if it really has the welfare of the operating properties at heart rather than its own aggrandizement.

But Washington has a little joker up its sleeve in this connection which doesn't please the big fellows at all. If this stunt were put through stock held by top companies would continue to be voted in operating company affairs. Only its owners—instead of voting it themselves—would have to give a permanent proxy to some federal agency—probably the Securities & Exchange Commission. "Granted that maybe we shouldn't exercise so much control over local situations, is that any reason for placing our investment at the complete mercy of a bunch of bureaucrats?"

EXAMPLE

New York is unimpressed by the plan to have the RFC liquidate the Public Utility Securities corporation—of which it recently acquired control—to show how painlessly it can be done.

Even if the RFC succeeds the informed insist it won't prove anything. They point out two important differences between the RFC's position and that of holding companies under the Wheeler-Rayburn bill. One is that the federal agency is bound by no time limit. It can dicker at any length for favorable terms. The other is that there's no compulsion behind the sale of the subsidiary properties. If no one comes through with an adequate bid the RFC can call the whole thing off.

Experts say that as an example it's like a man in a racing car showing a man on foot how easy it is to make 100 miles an hour.

CO-OPERATION

Export circles are irked at the ease with which Brazil obtained a loan in England after drawing a flat turnaround here. The loan provides that the money shall be spent in England. They figure this will put what's left of their Brazilian business on the skids and call it a fair sample of why Britain is able to lick us in South America in spite of our natural advantages.

The significant angle is that the British government took a direct hand in arranging the credit—not only encouraging their banks to make the loan but helping them work out the terms.

"It amounts to $20,000,000 worth of business we could have had but will never get. If Washington would occasionally give us that kind of a lift instead of fooling around with futile trade treaties we wouldn't have to sit by and watch John Bull swipe our most promising markets."

COSTS

Financial circles are busy dishing out where the social security bill will hit hardest if enacted. They figure that industries with a small proportion of labor cost—such as cigarettes, oil, smelting, sugar refining and canning—will get off easy. At the other end of the scale are the groups in which wages are the chief cost ingredient—such as office machinery and equipment, agricultural implements and cotton and silk textiles. Assessments for old age pensions and unemployment insurance would have a marked effect on their earnings.

MISS MILLER, HARVEY PEASE WED IN JUNE

ORANGE, April 8.—Mrs. J. L. Harris of Whittier entertained Saturday with a 1 o'clock bridge luncheon at the Doris Kathryn Tea shoppe announcing the engagement of her daughter, Miss Bomell Miller, teacher in the Killefer school of this city, to Harvey Pease of New Haven, Conn., son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Pease, East Chapman avenue.

The marriage will take place June 23 in the home of the grandparents of the bride-to-be, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Miller, of Morenci, Mich., where the young people will meet at the termination of journeys from the Atlantic and the Pacific coasts.

The luncheon table was centered with daisies and sweet peas in pastel tints and nut cups and place cards were in tulip designs. The interesting news was revealed when lady fingers were served with loaves with the last course and tied with pastel tinted ribbons were found to contain miniature scrolls on which was written the announcement.

Prizes at bridge went to Miss Eleanor Herrington, first; Miss Marian Garber, second, and Miss Helen Lush, consolation. Miss Miller has been a member of the teaching staff of the Killefer school for the past three years, following her graduation from Whittier college. Both she and Mr. Pease graduated from the Orange union high school with the class of 1928 and later she attended Santa Ana Junior college. Mr. Pease attended Oregon State college and attended Stanford university for graduate work. The young people are to establish their home in New Haven, where Mr. Pease is supervisor of a college district for a hosiery company.

Those bidden to the luncheon other than the honor guest, Miss Miller, were the Misses Janet Watson, Eula Kirkwood, Helen Baker, Mildred Watson, Eleanor Herrington, Pauline Snodgrass, Marjorie Turner, Shirley Haynes, Helen Lush, Bernice Vestal, Marian Garber, Catherine Frankforter, Louise Dewa, Mavis Campbell, and Clara Fraiser, of Orange; Miss Dorothy Davis of Riverside, Mesdames James Krieder (Janet Eljah), Bessie McCandless, Eleanor Campbell of Pasadena, Marjorie Davidson of Sierra Madre, Eileen King Lee, Maureen Livingston of Whittier and Vernell Chastain.

On Friday Miss Miller entertained teachers of the Killefer school with a luncheon, centering the luncheon table with sweet peas and serving in one of the vacant rooms of the building. At this time she announced her coming marriage to her fellow workers. Those present were Miss Lydia Killefer, Mrs. Beryl Robinson, Miss Pauline Murphy, Miss Winnie Hill and Mrs. Annie Blythe.

Bond issues are well received in the East because the California Public Service Commission shares with those of Maine and Massachusetts the reputation of being the fairest of state regulatory bodies toward investors and consumers alike.

SHUDDERS
The presence of J. G. Winant of New Hampshire on the Twentieth Century Fund committee—which favors passage of the Wagner bill in a still stronger form—brings shudders to conservative New York Republicans. "To think they want us to name a man like that for President!"

Officers Get Call As Boy Studies Stars

ORANGE, April 8.—Diogenes carried a lantern as he searched the streets of Athens for an honest man and a Santa Ana Junior college student carried a lantern in the early morning hours Saturday as he searched the stars, on North Glassell street.

Larry Luft, resident of North Glassell street, telephoned police headquarters that a man was seated on a lawn in the 500 block of that street, with a lighted lantern beside him and it was thought he might be crazy. Investigation revealed the student was studying the stars and using the lantern's light to make notes of the positions of the heavenly bodies.

PASSION WEEK SERVICES OPEN ON APRIL 14

ORANGE, April 8.—Plans for Passion week services under the auspices of the Orange Ministerial union have been announced beginning with Palm Sunday services at the individual churches on April 14, a union meeting at the First Presbyterian church on April 17, a Passover supper April 18, to be shared by the churches at the Epworth hall of the First Methodist church and Good Friday services at the Trinity Episcopal church.

According to the Rev. Arthur T. Hobson, pastor of the First Methodist church, the supper will reproduce as far as possible the Last Supper which Jesus ate with his disciples. There will be the bitter herbs, the unleavened bread and the ritual accompanying each. The Rev. Mr. Hobson is to preside at this supper. The supper is to follow the passover and the pastor will explain as it is eaten how Jesus took certain parts of the meal and instituted what is called the Lord's supper. A regular dinner will follow.

On Good Friday the service at the Episcopal church will open at noon, closing at 3 p. m. The seven words from the cross will be the topics of the service, which will be in seven parts. The service will open at noon, with the Rev. J. Alvin Shilley, pastor of the church, as the speaker, and at 12:25 p. m. the speaker is to be the Rev. Franklin H. Minck, pastor of the First Christian church. At 12:50 p. m. the speaker is to be Dr. Robert Burns McAulay of the First Presbyterian church. At 1:15 p. m. the Rev. J. S. Sorenson, pastor of the El Modena Friends church, at 1:40 p. m. the Rev. M. L. Pearson, pastor emeritus of the First Presbyterian church, at 2:05 p. m. the Rev. Arthur T. Hobson of the First Methodist church and at 2:30 p. m. the Rev. H. F. Sheerer, pastor of the First Baptist church.

ORANGE, April 8.—Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Patton, 402 North Glassell street, are observing their 50th wedding anniversary with two receptions, one of which will be held this afternoon. The other will be held from 7 to 9 o'clock this evening at the ranch home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Patton.

Mr. and Mrs. Patton were married in Farmersburg, Ind., going to their own home which was in readiness for them directly after the ceremony. They are the parents of one son and one daughter, R. C. Patton and Mrs. Barcus Oliver, of Montebello. They have been residents of Orange for the past 20 years. They have been active in civic work and interested workers in the First Methodist church since their arrival here. Mr. Patton after a short career as a school teacher, engaged in

HOLD PROGRAM AT SOCIAL OF CHURCH CLASS

ORANGE, April 8.—Entertaining in her home, 256 South Lemon street, Miss Dorothy Perkins was hostess Friday evening to members of the Fidelis Sunday school class of the First Methodist church. Bouquets of pink stocks brightened the rooms for the event. Assisting Miss Perkins in her hostess duties were Miss Azella Behermeyer, Miss Harriet Corson, Miss Frances Corson, Miss Nell Armstrong, Dr. Florence Brown, Miss Iva Brown and Miss Clara Graham.

Miss M. Lulu Evans, president of the class, presided over the business session, reading letters received from Miss Mary Boag, a class member, who is visiting in Merrill, Ore., and Miss Ethel Sufren, missionary at Hingwa, China.

A program presented later in the evening included a reading, "God of the Open Air," by Van Dyke, and given by Miss Frances Corson; a talk on "Easter Music," by Miss Mae Kimball, who also sang, "Four Not Ye," and a talk, "Art in Relation to the Easter Season," by Miss Azella Behermeyer. Community singing was led by Miss Elsie Parsons.

Refreshments of home made cookies, punch and candies were served to the following members sharing the evening: Miss Dorothy Perkins, Miss Harriet Corson, Miss Frances Corson, Miss Nell Armstrong, Miss Iva Brown, Miss Clara Graham, Dr. Florence Brown, Miss Elsie Parsons, Miss Leah Fernald, Miss Emma Hawkhead, Miss Mae Kimball, Miss Ethel Park, Miss Kathryn Northcross, Miss Lulu Kenne Evans, Miss Bertha Adams, Miss Floy Bradshaw, Miss Edna Barnum, Miss Lulu Thornburg, Miss Ethel Otto, Miss M. DETROIT TIGERS FORCED TO STAND PAT ON OUTFIELD

Mickey Cochrane admits that the Detroit Tigers could use another right-hand hitting outfielder to advantage, but does not know where to obtain one.

That being the case, Cochrane has decided to do the next best thing—make the most of what he has. The ignited Irishman did a fairly good job of that in his managerial job in 1934.

"Joe-Joe White developed rapidly in the last two months of the season. I am counting on the little Georgian to start in center field, flanked by Goose Goslin and Pete Fox," says Cochrane.

A great majority of baseball men could not associate an outfield composed of Goslin, White, Fox, Gerald Walker and Frank Delahay with a pennant-winning outfit.

Goslin, 33 and with 15 years of service behind him, had been traded by Washington for the younger Rocky Stone. White hit only .352 in 1934, and Fox only .285. Walker ran bases like a chicken with its head cut off. Delahay had a minor league complex.

The outfield was "the laugh of the league."

Yet all except Delahay are being brought back for another campaign—and another pennant, in the opinion of Cochrane.

AS MIKE SEES IT

"While we were lucky in completing a season without a serious injury, and were regarded as having had breaks in other ways, no other American league club has strengthened to a point where it is an outstanding threat," explains Cochrane.

Look for a close and exciting race with any one of four clubs likely to finish in front—Detroit, New York, Cleveland and Boston. Philadelphia may be quite a bit better, and give the contenders plenty of trouble.

Fox, the right-hand hitting regular, is the outfielder Cochrane sought to replace. The Evansville workman, who wound up with an average of .285 last year, lacks the consistency and power at the plate demanded of a flycatcher.

Naturally, the Detroit club would have liked to have landed Al Simmons of the White Sox. What ar-

FREMONT, MUR FIRST IN CITY SCHOOLS' MEET

Dominating almost every event, the well-balanced track teams of Fremont and John Muir schools won divisional championships in the city-wide meet in which all 14 of the city's elementary institutions participated at Poly Field Saturday.

Fremont finished first in the senior group with a total of 1540 points, 220 more than the second-place Logan squad aggregated.

John Muir has harder sledding in the junior class, winning with 1620 as against Lowell's 1552.

Individual honors went to Jack Logan of Fremont, who rolled up 265 points in the senior meet, and Norman Lee of Spurgeon, who gathered 365 in the junior group to nose out Pal Hignashi of Muir by a single point.

Other leaders in the two divisions were Jack Granados of Logan, Fred Williams of Muir, and Joe Murrillo of McKinley.

'MIRACLE MEN' TRAIL VIRGINIA BY FOUR POINTS

Santa Ana's "miracle men" will have to pull another jackrabbit out of the hat to retain their Southern California golf championship.

They were four points down today to the Virginia Country club of Long Beach, after the first half of a home-and-home match here Sunday afternoon. The score was 12½ points to 8½. It was only the second time in several years that the Santa Anans have lost a decision on their own course.

Virginia won by playing better golf, particularly in the lower brackets. Eddie Holmes and Bill Foote took three points from Ernie Coombs and "Kellie" McCook in the No. 1 match, and so did J. K. McDonald and Homer Robinson. A. W. Robinson shot a 74 and he and B. V. Curry picked up two more, but all the rest of the way down the line the Virginians had the situation under control. Long Beach's sixth team of Stanley and Hubbard had a best-ball of 73.

The series will be resumed at Long Beach next Sunday, the winner to oppose either California or Hollywood in the final round. California scored a 14-7 win in the first-half of its series with Hollywood.

Summary:

Ed Holmes Jr. and W. W. Foote (SA) 2 points; Ernie Coombs and N. McCook (V) 1 point.

Dick Ewert and Ray Chapman (SA) 1 point; L. Pulley and H. Graham (V) 2 points.

B. V. Curry and A. W. Robinson (SA) 2 points; E. M. Jones and E. Coombs Jr. (V) 1 point.

J. K. McDonald and L. H. Robinson (SA) 3 points; F. Rahiwell and L. Hall (V) 0 points.

F. E. Farnsworth and L. D. Coffing (SA) 2 points; G. Cody and C. A. Ford (V) 2 points.

W. C. Fletcher and H. S. Wright (SA) 0 points; H. M. Hubbard and E. Woodington (V) 0 points.

M. E. Johnson and M. N. Thompson (SA) 0 points; Vic Roddick and P. Myers (V) 2 points.

Thanks to a 12-6 victory over Huntington Beach here Sunday, Santa Ana's Class B golf squad was leading the South Coast league standings today. The results:

Van Pomeroy and E. H. Guthrie (SA) 2 points; J. R. Roberts and L. W. Robbins (HB) 0 points.

T. W. Kelley and Harry Olson (SA) 1 point; K. Sargent and C. R. Furr (HB) 2 points.

J. W. Means and C. K. Dodds (SA) 1 point; Harry Sheue and H. Overmyer (HB) 1 point.

L. J. Bushard and L. L. Carder (SA) 2 points; R. M. Hager and E. Woodington (HB) 0 points.

C. P. Patton and H. A. Walker (SA) 0 points; Ted Burkett and Ned Cook (HB) 2 points.

Charles Briscoe and Forest Neal (SA) 3 points; T. B. Talbert and Art Anderson (HB) 0 points.

Perry exhibited a full set of teeth today and denied that he had tangled with the former pugilist.

"I recall that some fellow threw a cigar in my face," the Britisher explained. "I think he attempted to hit me. I had no idea why he took offense, so I turned my back and walked out."

The tennis star was amused at Benjamin's accusations that he had made belittling remarks about American champions.

"Why I think they're a fine lot," he said. "I hold them in the highest esteem."

Benjamin, who was at the cafe with two motion picture actresses, Mona Rico and Renee Torres, insisted that the scuffle occurred and Perry "wanted to take Mona home."

Perry announced he will leave the film colony Wednesday and will stop in New York on his way back to England.

News Of Orange County Communities

WOMAN'S CLUB HEARS ADDRESS ON GARDENING

GARDEN GROVE, April 8.—Bland of Santa Ana gave an interesting talk on the subject "Gardening," at the meeting of the Woman's Civic club held in the clubhouse Friday afternoon. He traced the source of some of the best growing plants in California to their native countries, stating that the ones best adapted to this climate are the ones grown in similar climates. Some of the plants which are highly valued in this country are considered weeds in other countries where they are so plentiful, he said.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. W. O. Broady.

A report of the reciprocity day program at the Anaheim Ebell clubhouse was given by Mrs. Genevieve Fordling followed by a report of the meeting of the county federation by Mrs. James G. McCracken.

Mrs. E. G. Maier announced the meeting of the Booklovers section to be held April 18 in the home of Mrs. Ray Johnson, with Mrs. Charles Lake as co-hostess. Mrs. P. S. Virgin will give the book review. The regular monthly card party will be held in the clubhouse on April 23, with Emma Kearns and Mrs. Maier as co-hostesses.

A nominating committee consisting of Mrs. William Adland, Mrs. Charles Lake and Mrs. A. C. Robbins was appointed to report at the May meeting at which time new officers will be elected.

Mrs. Charles Lake favored with two vocal numbers, "Smiling Thru" and "Shoes," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Virgil Sparks.

After an exchange of bulbs, plants and seeds the hostesses, Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Lake served tea and wafers at a table decorated with red sweetpeas and tall white tapers.

Dinner Planned By Relief Corps

COSTA MESA, April 8.—Final plans for a program at the next regular meeting in celebration of the seventh anniversary of the founding of J. N. Stiffler post No. 145 of the Woman's Relief corps in Costa Mesa were made at a meeting of the organization in Greener's hall. A dinner, followed with a program of entertainment, will occupy most of the time, and members of the post having birthdays in March and April will be honored guests. Mrs. Blanche Armstrong, chairman of the Birthday club, will be dinner chairman for the occasion. She will be assisted by the executive committee.

Mrs. Ray Boone, member of the Bellflower W. R. C. post, was guest of honor. Mrs. Ida Woods, relief chairman, gave a brief report. Mrs. Daisy Radabaugh presided in the absence of the chairman, Mrs. Maude Joseph.

FIVE ACRES SOLD

WESTMINSTER, April 8.—The five acres and residence, formerly belonging to W. A. Millholland, has been purchased from the Free Methodist church, the last owner, by W. L. Johnson, Los Alamitos man. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson and two daughters, 9 and 11, and Mrs. Johnson's invalid father, are now located on their new property. Johnson is one of the directors of the Los Alamitos school district.

Johnson is beginning the improvement of his new place with the planting of one section of the land to pecan trees and a family orchard.

HUNTINGTON BEACH SCHOOLS ARRANGE PROGRAMS FOR WEEK

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 8.—Plans for the observance of the 18th annual Public Schools week by elementary and high schools in the Huntington Beach district were announced today by officers of the Huntington Beach Masonic lodge.

The Huntington Beach elementary school and high school, as well as the Oceanview school, are to have displays of students' handwork on the second floor of Memorial hall, in conjunction with the Merchants' exposition, to be held there this week. Public class sessions of grades of the elementary school up to the seventh will be held Thursday evening from 7 o'clock to 8 o'clock. Friday evening the seventh and eighth grades will hold similar meetings from 7 o'clock to 8:30 o'clock, to be followed by a high school program in the auditorium.

The Fountain Valley school at Talbert will observe the week with a parents' assembly at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon, and the Oceanview school is to stage an opera that evening. The Westminster school is holding open house during the entire week. Parents and public have been asked by the schools to take this opportunity of seeing the progress made by public schools in the vicinity.

'WHEN WE LOSE EVERYTHING' IS TOPIC IN BREA

BREA, April 8.—"When I Lose Everything" was the subject of the sermon preached at the Congregational church Sunday morning by the Rev. D. F. Gaylord, using for his text a part of Luke 6:20, "Blessed are ye poor, for yours is the kingdom of heaven."

The Rev. Mr. Gaylord said in part: "Any remarks on this topic are certain to be addressed to many in these days of loss and uncertainty, with heretofore financial independence people being daily added to the long list of those suffering from economic distress of the country. The question that occurs to me is 'What would Jesus say to people who are in such a crisis?' No doubt He would say, 'Begin again: Make the best possible of the situation in which you find yourself.' But in reading over His words, it is surprising to find how little consolation Jesus had to give to people who had suffered property losses. The reason was probably that He realized there were certain blessings to be found in that kind of economic disaster. Hence His words: 'Be not anxious for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than the food, and the body than the raiment?'

"The most deadly thing that can follow economic losses is when something within breaks the man, when he admits himself beaten and resigns himself to a receptivity that destroys pride and ambition. Jesus would warn against that."

"The idea finding common expression today, that unemployed people are so because they have been shiftless and lazy, is a lie. But there is enough of truth in it to hurt. Therefore pride and aggressiveness must be maintained and our first obligation should be to become intelligently aware of the sort of system that makes widespread and general unemployment possible."

ADDITION STARTED

BREA, April 8.—A. V. Van Tuyle has started an addition to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Smith, 240 South Flower street. The addition will include a bedroom and an extension to the rear screened porch.

SAN FERNANDO MAN AND BREA GIRL MARRIED

BREA, April 8.—More than 60 relatives and friends witnessed the wedding of Miss Elva Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Moore, of this city, and Wesley Lelach, of San Fernando, the ceremony taking place Sunday morning at the Pull Gospel assembly, with the Rev. A. E. McClain of Pomona, officiating, using the single ring rite.

The bride, gowned in white chiffon organza, made floor length, and wearing a white turban with short veil, was given in marriage by her father and she and the bridegroom were attended by her sister, Yvonne High, as matron of honor and Keith Nelson as best man. Mrs. High wore an orchid gown and turban. Both she and Nelson are from San Fernando. Clyde Taylor played Lohengrin's wedding march as the party took their places before an arbor of white wisteria. Mrs. Catherine Hines sang "I Love You Truly" just preceding the ceremony. Following the congratulations of guests the newly married couple left for a honeymoon. They will live in San Fernando where Mr. Lelach is employed.

Out of town guests in addition to Mrs. High and Mr. Nelson were Mr. and Mrs. J. The DARK BLOND

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Drillmill Graves' employer, George Millicent, was a man who had been to dictate and write for a woman in a black ermine coat. Millicent leaves the office and sees such a woman, the stranger again. He tells her his name is Jarvis Hap. Hap sends her to a beauty shop where, in a few minutes, she is transformed into a blond.

Hap takes her home, introducing her to his secretary, Miss G. Hap's stepson, accuses Millicent of being the girl sought in the Drimgold murder.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER VIII

Millicent knew there was no use denying Robert Calise's accusation that she was the girl the police were looking for. In the first place, the photographic evidence was damning. In the second place, she realized that to question the conclusions he had reached would simply make him more difficult to handle. So she stared steadily at him and said, "Well, what are you going to do about it?"

He started to say something, then paused as he heard the rattle of the door knob.

"Nothing," he said. "Sit tight." He turned and was, apparently, just leaving the room as Jarvis Hap and Dick Gentry entered.

"Just getting some stuff," he said, keeping his eyes averted from those of Jarvis Hap. "Hope I'm not intruding?"

"Not at all," Jarvis Hap said, but Millicent noticed there was something about his voice that was not entirely cordial—a certain harshly strained note of suspicion. When she glanced at his face, however, she was able to see nothing in his eyes. His face was a perfect mask.

He indicated a small table.

"I think," he said, "you'd better sit there for the present. Miss Graves, tomorrow I'll purchase a secretarial desk and have it sent up here. Then you can get at things in a businesslike way."

She seated herself and the two men lit cigars. Jarvis Hap went on talking in his smoothly eloquent voice—a voice which seemed so certain of itself, so soothing to tired cardrums.

"Dick and I," he said, "each put in $5000 as capital and started speculating in stocks. I may as well confess to you that we were selling stocks short. I see nothing whatever wrong with that type of business transaction. However, of late there has been a certain public sentiment against it."

"When one realizes that commodities are going down, there is no sane reason why he shouldn't capitalize upon that knowledge. Moreover, were it not for the so-called 'short' sales, the market would soon pyramid itself up to such a frenzied peak of hysteria that when a crash came, as it would be bound to do sooner or later, the entire investment structure of the country would be jarred to its foundations."

"However, the fact remains that our speculations were very profitable. Dick has been handling the business end of the venture. We've taken a great deal of money out, and there's still a large amount in undistributed profits. Some of this we have put into a manufacturing business which has been one of the few manufacturing businesses to show a profit during the present period. I telephoned Dick this evening and asked him to bring all of the books and data which he has, and turn them over to you."

Jarvis Hap nodded toward a suitcase in the corner.

"There's all there," Gentry said, smiling.

Millicent met his eyes and realized something of the man's vital force. Here was a man who smashed through obstacles—a man who went after what he wanted, and was never satisfied with half-way measures. He was, she realized, watching her strangely.

"Just what," she asked, "do you wish me to do?"

"I want you to take all the data that's in there," Mr. Hap said, and open a set of books."

"As soon as you conveniently can," he said. "You can open a set of books all right?"

"Oh yes," she said. "I'm experienced as a bookkeeper. I worked in the office of a certified accountant for more than two years."

Gentry removed the clear from his lips, stared thoughtfully at the smoke which curled upward from the end of his cigar.

"Jarvis," he said slowly, "let's not rush into this thing too hastily. Frankly, I'm not in favor of opening up a set of books on this thing. You've got commitments and so have I. I'd prefer to keep this as a little informal partnership."

Jarvis Hap shook his head and said, "The deal's too big, Dick. We're going to get in trouble with the income tax people and you know it."

Gentry sighed. "If it wasn't for the damned income tax," he said, "we'd be sitting pretty on this thing."

Hap's gesture with his cigar was one of impatient dismissal.

"But," he said, "there is an income tax, so why sit here and waste time talking about what we would do if there wasn't an income tax?"

Gentry nodded slowly.

"When can you start on the books?" asked Jarvis Hap.

"Right now," Millicent said, and pushing back her chair, moved over toward the suitcase.

Gentry made a quick motion as though to stop her, then sat back and laughed.

"Well," he said, "that's commendable zeal."

"No," Hap said, "not tonight. Miss Graves, 'You've had a strenuous day.'"

Millicent shook her head, picked up the suitcase and said, "It would be a relief to have something on which I could concentrate. Would you mind very much if I started looking things over tonight?"

"Not at all," Hap said. "Suit yourself. If you're going to start working, you might prefer to start them in your own room."

"I think," she said, "that I'll go ahead," he told her.

She started for the door, but Dick Gentry gained her side in two swift strides.

"Permit me," he said, "to carry the suitcase for you. It's heavy."

Hospitality Night Here Thursday To Be Gala Event

MERCHANTS OF CITY UNITE TO STAGE PREVIEW

Music, color and a spirit of hospitality will mark the big "Spring Preview and Hospitality Night" program to be staged by Santa Ana merchants under the sponsorship of the retail division of the chamber of commerce Thursday night, it was announced today by Walter Swanberger, chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements.

With plans for making the event one of the greatest ever staged by local merchants, practically every store in the city is making enthusiastic plans for individual participation in the hospitality night program.

Each merchant will take part in the program individually, inviting the Orange county public to pay a visit to the shopping district to inspect the new spring fashions in clothing, look over new automobiles or inspect the load-shelves and his stocks of merchandise which have been secured for the occasion.

Persons who are guests of the merchants Thursday night will not be asked to buy, but clerks will be one hand should purchases be desired. Merchants want the people to come down town, get better acquainted and feel at home.

Some merchants will present special musical programs. Others will give away favors and flowers. Still others are planning more elaborate means of participation in the event.

Merchants will close their stores at the regular time Thursday, and open them again at 7 o'clock, staying open until 9:30 p. m. Windows and stocks will be especially prepared for the event.

REMOVE GAIN TO HALT WAR, SPEAKER SAYS

Declaring that the problems generated by war comprise the gravest dilemma facing modern civilization, Arthur F. Corey, assistant superintendent of county schools, has been appearing before various public gatherings with a talk on "The Merchants of Death," in which he advocates governmental control of the munitions industry in order to eliminate the tremendous profits made by the arms and ammunition manufacturers during war-time.

"The United States has waged a major war in every generation of its existence, but until recently our people have accepted this slaughter-house economics as an inevitable population control and outlet for human instincts of pugnacity," declared Corey. "People who appear intelligent and claim to be human are even in this day crying that the only way to hold population within limits of possibilities for its support is to kill periodically and maintain the best of the human crop. These same people express horror at the terrible pagan custom of the Romans in destroying unwanted children and favor laws to make birth control generally ineffective."

The speaker outlines the fabulous profits taken by manufacturers of guns and ammunition during the late war, and explains how callous men can become to possible human suffering.

"A scrutiny of the records of the United States Steel corporation will reveal profits for the four years of human suffering and death in excess of one billion dollars. These admitted increments were after tremendous depreciation had been written off, salaries of all executives raised and every other device of big business manipulation had been used to reduce the apparent profit. In one year this organization declared dividends totaling 100 per cent, and in 1917 the DuPont company of Delaware, manufacturers of gunpowder, declared dividends totalling more than the book value of all its outstanding stock."

"The wisdom of war-time control of the stuff of which wars are made is unquestioned only by those financially interested either directly or indirectly," explains Corey, who tells of how Sprenger was sent to the 1917 naval limitations conference by four large corporations who paid his salary at the rate of $25,000 per year to do everything in his power to make the conference fail. "Whether naval limitations was wise or foolish is beside the point; the manufacturers of war ships should not be the interests to dictate the policy," states Corey.

"Some years ago the government was discussing the advisability of building a factory for the manufacture of its own armor plate. Immediately there appeared mysteriously in several thousand newspapers throughout the United States advertisements pointing out the grave danger of such a policy. Editorial comment was immediately forthcoming and the interested manufacturers of armor plate placed before the senate committee a scrap book of editorial comment so large that the project was immediately abandoned. War-time immediately would thwart the purpose of such activity," Corey explains.

"As long as war is an accepted national policy for the settlement of economic and political disputes, we will be forced to prepare for it; but in so doing there is no wisdom or reason in permitting those who will get the profit dictating the methods to be used for the time for the war."

"Wars are man-made. A recognition of this fact emphasizes the conclusion that peace will be made if it is achieved. If the mothers and fathers of America do not wish their boys to bleed and smother in sacrifices, the possibilities of war-time millions in profits must be struck from our

RETIREES EXPECT CROWD AT MEETING ON SNAIL CONTROL

HURD RETIRES: SERVED UNDER 10 PRESIDENTS

Charles E. Hurd, below, who has been in the United States postoffice service for more than 42 years and who has just retired. During his long service with the government he had worked under 10 different presidents of the United States.

After serving the government in the postal department for more than 42 years, and working under 10 different presidents, Charles E. Hurd, head of the postal savings department of the Santa Ana post office, has retired, it was learned today.

Hurd's enviable 42-year record in governmental service was started in 1892 under President Harrison. Other presidents whom Hurd has worked under included Cleveland, McKinley, Theodore Roosevelt, Taft, Wilson, Harding, Coolidge, Hoover and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

It was poor health which caused Hurd's voluntary retirement from the service in which he spent the best part of his life. He had three years to go yet before retirement was compulsory, the government age limit being 63 years of age.

He first entered the postal service in North Adams, Mass., when there was no civil service. In those days, he recalls, things were much different than they are today. Salaries amounted to $2100. Then the postal employees worked from 7 a. m. until 8:30 p. m., with no nights off for a long time. Now they work 44 hours a week. He has worked in every department of the post office and has been with the local post office for about 13 years.

On a government pension now in recognition of his long and faithful service, Hurd plans to take things easy from now on, obeying his doctor's orders. He lives at 709 Orange avenue. His only son, Lauren E. Hurd, better known as "Pat" Hurd, was a motorcycle officer here, died some years ago. Mr. Hurd has a married daughter who is still living, but who lives out of town.

EXPECT CROWD AT MEETING ON SNAIL CONTROL

A large attendance is expected at the snail control demonstration tomorrow at 3 p. m., under the auspices of the agricultural extension service and agricultural commissioner's office. It was announced today. More than usual interest has been shown in the problem due to the favorable seasonal conditions that have increased the numbers of snails in orchard and garden.

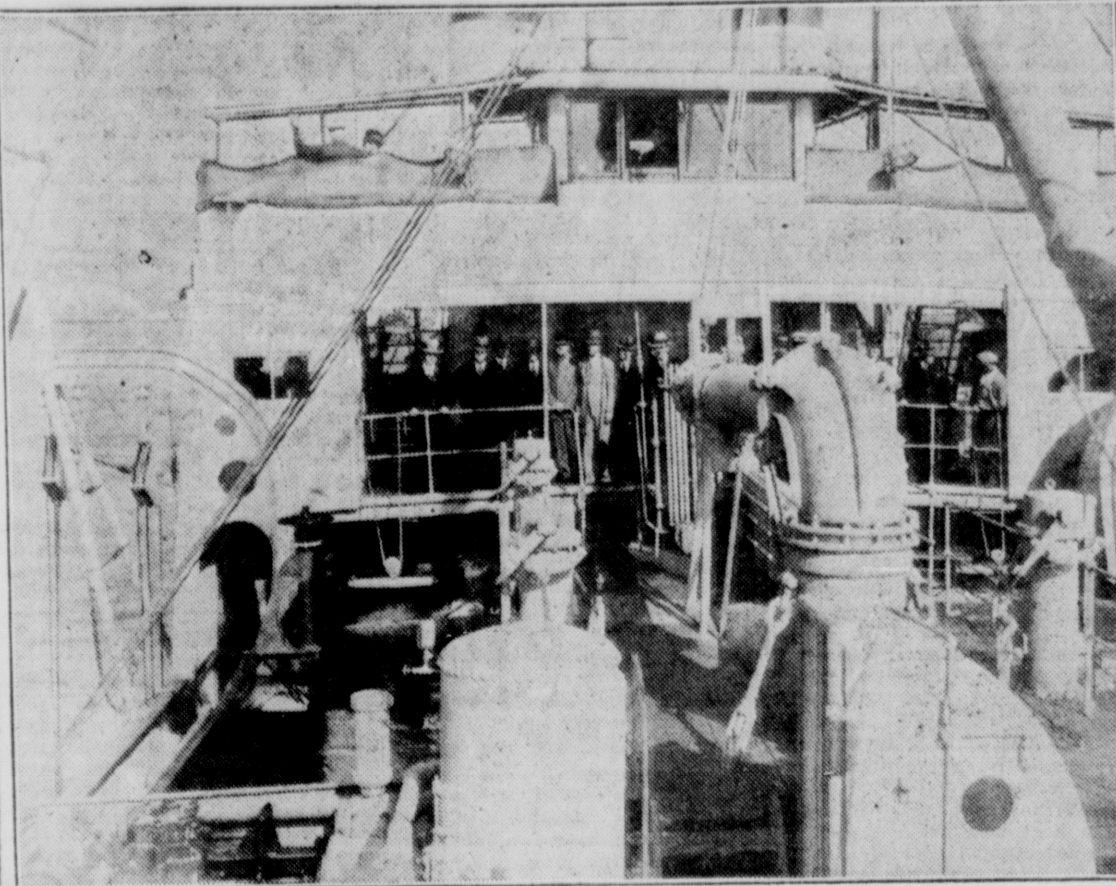

Recommendations will be given by the agricultural commissioner for treating the snail pest under Orange county conditions. Materials, method of application and the best time to apply will be explained and demonstrated.

Two orchards will be visited during the afternoon. The first stop will be at the F. C. Krause orchard on Berrydale street, one-fourth mile south of Ocean avenue. This is about two miles east of Garden Grove. Those coming from Santa Ana or Tustin may go via Seventeenth street, cross the Seventeenth street bridge, turn north on Berrydale street, and continue north one mile.

The first demonstration will be at the Krause orchard at 2 o'clock. The second stop will be at the Fred Andrus place on West Chapman avenue, one-fourth mile east of Euclid, at approximately 3:30 p. m.

An invitation is extended to all growers or property owners interested in the control of snails, according to Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg.

DREDGING PROGRAM WELL UNDER WAY

ALL CLASSES TO TEACH ENGLISH: "AIN'T" IS OUT

The Johnnies and Marys of Julia Lathrop High School not only must know their arithmetic and geography lessons, but they must be able to recite them in proper English, these days.

And even if they do not know the correct answer, they must at least, say so correctly. "I ain't prepared, teacher," is out.

For every teacher is teaching English now, at Julia Lathrop. Whatever subject is taught, the teaching of correct English goes with it, under a new educational plan being tried out at the school, according to Principal H. G. Nelson.

"Good speech is usually neglected in most classes," said Nelson. "In some places for instance, anything goes. This is true in most schools. From now on every teacher at Lathrop will teach English along with his or her subjects."

"In addition to checking the correctness of the student's speech, compositions will be written dealing with the subject being studied, and the vocabulary of each subject will be taught by the teacher handling it."

"Hereafter, we won't depend on the regular English teacher alone to teach what a hyphenator, or a hypotenuse, a spectrum or an octave is, nor how to spell and use the word," said Nelson. "That will be the business of the science, mathematics, or music teacher also, the place to learn these things is where they occur. After all, the words that explain a blueprint are just as important as the blueprint."

Thirty Per Cent of Work on Harbor Dredging Project Concluded

Approximately 30 per cent of work to be done during the $2,000,000 federal improvement program at Newport Bay has been accomplished, it was shown in a report today from Capt. R. E. Cruze, United States Army engineer in charge of the work. There is a possibility, Cruze said, that the job may be completed about two months ahead of schedule.

A total of 2,394,000 cubic yards has been dredged from the bay since the start of work in January, it was revealed, of which 1,482,500 cubic yards was removed during the month of March. Total cost of the dredging so far accomplished is $251,370.

The John McMullen, steam dredge of the San Francisco bridge company, has removed approximately 300,000 cubic yards of material, and is now located near the bluffs of Corona Del Mar, where it is removing ledge rock. The Point Loma, electric driven dredger, has pumped 634,000 cubic yards of sand from the yacht basin near the Newport Harbor Yacht club during the past month. The Los Angeles, a Standard Dredging company craft, is located near the upper end of Lido Isle, has removed more than 550,000 cubic yards of sand and silt from the floor of the bay. The government hopper dredge, San Pablo, is located at the harbor entrance, where it will remove approximately 400,000 cubic yards of sand.

A total of 3,000 tons of "B" rock has been deposited on the west jetty by the Rohl Connelly company, 4700 tons of which were placed during March. Nearly 25,000 tons of rock has been dumped at the end of the east jetty, approximately half necessary to complete the breakwater.

The old county road, scenic boulevard of years ago, which winds around the base of the bluff about Newport Harbor, will be covered with sand and silt, and the roadway is covered with dredged material from the bay. A levee is being constructed at the east end of Balboa Island, to hold the sand to be dumped in that area.

A dike is being constructed in the upper bay, where a lagoon and park will be constructed, as a county venture. Dredging will be done there by the Standard Dredging company, and all the land south of the Coast Highway and west of Newport Boulevard, with the exception of existing channels, will be filled.

WILL SELECT PLAY WINNER ON THURSDAY

Following the plan which met with success a year ago, of presenting the four prize-winners in the annual play-writing contest, Santa Ana Community Players will give a program Thursday night at 8:15 o'clock in Ebell auditorium. The four winning plays will be presented by casts drawn from the association membership, and judges will make their decision as to the best constructed and most original play.

Miss Eva Doyle's comedy, "A Sense of Humor," will be played by Lois Rees Auer, Warren Fletcher, Florence Brownridge and Gertrude Horn. The cast for "Paolo and Francesca" by Arthur Collins, is composed of J. Leslie Stephenson, Althea Lambie, Glenn Shaw and Harry Layton. "Small Claims Court" by Frances Donovan, will present Marian Bruner, Amy Vian, Katherine Eber, Robert Speed, Vincent Elliott, Dr. Arthur Wade and Victor Morrison. The cast for the fourth play, "A Garden in Samarkand" by Arthur Collins, comprises John Colwell, Charles Applegate, Yvonne Nelson, Mary Batten Stephenson, Victor Rees, Arthur Casey, Edwin Bradley, Don Kennedy and Bob Reid.

Mrs. Robert Wade, chairman in charge of the program, has not yet completed her list of judges to act that night.

Rehearsals for the one acts are being held in the home of Mrs. Charles Riggs, in Leonard Baker's studio apartment and in the Robert Speed home. Authors are supervising the directing, in which different players are co-operating. Scenery needs of the four plays are not existing, so waits between the productions will not be long. They will be enlivened by music as well, for Leland Auer of the high school music department, is arranging this phase of entertainment.

ANTHOLOGY OF STUDENT VERSE TO BE PRINTED

A convention will be held at Santa Ana Junior college in connection with the publication of the eighth annual First the Blade, California college anthology of student verse, according to an announcement today by T. H. Glenn, faculty advisor for the book.

Santa Ana will follow the custom of entertaining contributors for the magazine when the book is ready for distribution. First the Blade will be issued early in May.

The verse anthology is edited by Eleanor Walter who was assisted by Freda Sawtelle, associate editor, and Reed Sutherland, business manager.

Approximately 300 copies of the book will be printed at the junior college of Fine Arts press. It will contain 104 pages of all types of poetry which were submitted by students in colleges all over California.

First the Blade has formerly been printed at Fullerton junior college, San Bernardino junior college, Scripps college, Los Angeles junior college, Redlands university and Pasadena junior college.

WORK ON QUILT

BUENA PARK, April 8.—Mrs. W. A. Kinsler and Mrs. A. L. Gallagher were hostesses at the meeting of the Welcome Bible class recently at the Congregational church. After a brief business session, time was spent in working on a friendship quilt for the class teacher, Mrs. La Rue C. Watson.

Mrs. Ralph Brown was elected substitute secretary-treasurer, replacing Mrs. E. L. Bloomfield, who is temporarily unable to attend class sessions. Hostesses for the May 2 meeting will be Mrs. Claude Smith and Mrs. N. O. Thornton.

ATTEND PLAY OPENING

LA HABRA, April 8.—A group of young people from La Habra and vicinity attended a showing of "Tobacco Road" in Los Angeles Friday evening. In the party were Vic Sutherland, Ted Scott, Wilfred Schneider of La Habra, Sally Newkirk of Anaheim, Betty Clay of Fullerton, Madge Middleton of Westwood, Don Walker of Yorba Linda and Marthella Hatigan.

Feature Spring Styles At Night School Classes

Special attention is being given to new spring styles in the evening high school sewing classes which meet Tuesday from 3 to 5 and 7 to 9 p. m. in the Willard Junior High school, 1342 North Ross street and Wednesday afternoons and evenings at the same time in the Lathrop Junior High school, 1120 South Main street.

Each class will meet once more before spring vacation and six times after spring vacation.

These classes have been under the leadership of Mrs. Blanche Palmer, but due to a serious accident which makes it impossible for Mrs. Palmer to leave home, the class is now under the direction of Miss Katherine Frankforter, a graduate of Santa Barbara State Teachers college. No tuition is charged. Anyone interested is invited to bring her materials to any or all of these classes.

Junior Auxiliary Arranges Dance

BUENA PARK, April 8.—Plans for a spring sports dance have been made by the Junior auxiliary of the Woman's club, with April 27 as the date selected for the affair.

The girls are to sell candy during the dinner hour at the bazaar to be held in May by the senior club.

The United States, United Kingdom, Germany, and France are the four wealthiest nations in the world.

BRIDGE CLUB MEETS

GARDEN GROVE, April 8.—A dinner party followed by an evening of bridge was enjoyed by a local bridge club and their husbands recently at the home of Mrs. Charles Scott in Artesia. The group included Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Hatch, Mr. and Mrs. George Richardson of Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Newsum, Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Varieties of Pottery Discussed by Ebell Section

Three varieties of American pottery were discussed Friday afternoon at a meeting of Ebell Music, Art and Drama section held in the home of Mrs. B. H. Sharpless, Newport Road, Mrs. Sharpless and Mrs. T. R. Trawick were co-hostesses.

Mrs. C. F. Smith opened the program with a talk on "Bookwood Pottery," which is made in "Maine." Mrs. Alice Hill Hatch told of the making of pottery at Newcomb college, New Orleans. In connection with her talk on "California Pottery," Mrs. Sharpless had arranged an especially charming display of colorful varieties.

In serving refreshments, Mrs. Sharpless and Mrs. Trawick had assistance of Mrs. Hatch, who poured tea.

Local Young People Wedded Quietly At Las Vegas

Announcement of their marriage Saturday, March 30 at Las Vegas, Nev., is being made by Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Lunderback, who already have taken up residence at 215 1-2 Buffalo street, Santa Ana.

Miss Gertrude K. Heesch became the bride of Wayne Lunderback, son of Mrs. E. D. Alumbaugh of this city, at a quiet ceremony read at 10 o'clock in the morning in the Methodist Episcopal parsonage at Las Vegas. The Rev. E. R. Orr officiated.

The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Monahan of Long Beach accompanied the couple to Las Vegas for the ceremony.

Mr. Lunderback is with the Union Oil company. Mrs. Lunderback is employed in the local office of Southern Counties Gas company.

Exchange Program Is Enjoyed By Community Players

Although many members of Santa Ana Community Players' association had to absent themselves from Thursday night's meeting in The Barn because of rehearsals for the original one act plays next Thursday night in Ebell auditorium, there was a capacity audience for the delightful program presented by Musical Arts club.

There was the customary business interval led by Miss Clara Kate Owens, Barn chairman, during which approaching association events were discussed. Included was the big May party to honor all Players and their friends. Harry Hanson, president, outlined some of his tentative plans, and the two approaching one-act programs were discussed.

Mrs. Robert Wade, chairman for the program for next Thursday night, asked for a lively ticket selling campaign on the part of members. This program, beginning at 8:15 o'clock, will feature the four original one-acts which won in the recent play-writing contest.

Mrs. Trott Entertains Sewing Club Members

Mrs. H. R. Trott was hostess to members of the X. N. O. club last week in her home, 905 North Olive street. At the close of an afternoon of sewing, refreshments were served at tables decked with spring flowers, Easter chickens and rabbits.

Present with Mrs. Trott were Mesdames E. E. Perry, E. E. Lentz, E. E. Edwards, W. R. Edwards, B. A. Hershey, D. H. Smith, W. R. Wisdom, A. R. Bennett, members, and Mrs. Fred Ahlfield of Orange, a guest. Mrs. Bennett, 406 East Myrtle street, will be hostess at the next meeting.

It was reported that Mrs. R. A. McPhee, who has been seriously ill, is convalescing in her home at 405 West Camille street.

Visitors From Oakland Attend Two Affairs

Mr. and Mrs. Ora Simpson and son, Ronald, who have returned to their home in Oakland after a stay in this city, took part in two events of special interest preceding their departure for the north. They were guests at a birthday dinner honoring Mrs. Anna Hasenager, and the following day were complimented at a picnic held at Irvine park.

The party honoring Mrs. Hasenager's anniversary was a surprise affair held in her home, 622 Eastwood avenue. Miss William Zentner had planned the event, serving dinner to a group of relatives and friends.

Present with the honoree, Mrs. Hasenager and Miss Zentner were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dietrich, Mr. and Mrs. William Dietrich, Mr. and Mrs. George Hasenager and sons, Donald and Norman, all of this community; Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Buchheim and sons and daughter, Carl, Lawrence and Charlotte Buchheim, Arnold Stroschein, George Brunner, Doherty Park; Mr. and Mrs. Ora Simpson and son Ronald of Oakland.

During their visit in this city, the Simpsons were guests of the William Dietrichs, the Edward Dietrichs and of Mrs. Hasenager. The picnic dinner at the park was enjoyed by the above group and by Edward Burrier, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Dietrich and children, Billy, Wallace, Phyllis and Junior; Mr. and Mrs. George Hasenager and sons, Donald and Norman; Mrs. Wilma Zentner, Mrs. Anna Zentner, Miss Emma Zentner, Martin Zentner, Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Allison and daughter, Helen, this city; Mr. and Mrs. R. Original Work Lauded At Program Of Musical Arts Club

Music and its allied art of poetry offered beauty Friday to members and friends of Musical Arts club. Particularly so since the program was made up entirely of original work of a very high standard by Earl Fraser, composer-pianist and Miss Beulah May, poet.

The club met in Earl Fraser's studio in the Greenleaf building, a setting peculiarly appropriate to the occasion, with an individual charm compounded of paintings, furnishings and lights, and a great basket of jewel-colored flowers sent for the occasion by Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Hart of Orange.

Mrs. W. O. Hart presided over the business meeting in advance of a studio luncheon, later presenting her program chairman, Clarence Gustlin, who introduced the artists. His tribute to Earl Fraser's creative genius was borne out by the varied group of numbers which followed, with Mr. Fraser at the piano. All proved to be strikingly original, the completely lacking the dissimilarity that much modernistic work has for unaccustomed ears.

The two opening numbers, "Poeme" and "Pastorale," were for piano and flute with Mr. Fraser and Earl Hood as artists. "Nocturne" and "Caprice," equally significant by reason of their originality and atmosphere, were enigmatically played by Earl Fraser, piano; Edward Burns, cello; Alan Hood, clarinet, and Philip Hood, flute. Concluding the group was a "Prelude," stately and powerful, composed for organ and piano, especially for Miss Ruth Armstrong's annual Easter vesper service in the First Presbyterian church. Miss Armstrong played the piano for the organ, on the second of the piano, and the effect was remarkable in its promise of what awaits the vesper audience on Easter Sunday afternoon.

Miss May followed her introduction with a short sketch of the life of Arthur Trueman Merrill, whose recent death was such a loss to California letters. She read examples of his poems, showing the versatility with which he wrote either in sonorous, musical phrases or in the vernacular. She then read poems from her own recently published volume, "Buccaneer's Gold," dedicated to Merrill.

In many cases she told either of the inspiration for the poem in question, or where and under what conditions it was written. She included the poem that gives the book its title, "House at the End of the World," "Ulysses," "Prayer for Little Bessie," "The Dream Seekers," "Javanese Night" and several that were inspired by musical compositions, including by request, her "Andante Cantabile by Tschalkowsky."

The social committee and executive board of the club joined in planning the buffet luncheon. They were Miss Ruth Armstrong, Sally Lee Scales, Cecile Fross Willits, Irma Huffman May, Mrs. Charles G. Nalle and Mrs. Jay Hamilton, with Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Hart providing and serving the coffee.

Miss Pauline Farquhar, president, and a dozen members of Long Beach Musical Arts club were among the guests attending.

First Birthday Party

Dr. and Mrs. Newell Moore's home, 1905 North Main street, was setting for a gay party recently in celebration of the first birthday anniversary of their little daughter, Peggy Lou Moore.

During the afternoon, motion pictures were taken of the children in their various activities including the drawing of rabbits, chickens, ducks, dogs and cats from a large Easter nest; marching in a parade; cutting of the birthday cake; and opening of Peggy Lou's birthday gifts.

Story book motifs, including the old woman in the shoe, were used in decorating. A circus day parade marched across the piano. Figures at a Maypole dance festival were on the dining room table, where all appointments were in pastel tints. Refreshments were served by candlelight. A floral background was provided by blue forget-me-nots in a tiny circle, a bowl of pansies and a basket of daisies.

Sharing the affair with Mrs. Moore and Peggy Lou were Carolyn Harrison, Lynette Brown, Shirley Joan Glines, Nancy Conner, Cynthia Hayden, Charlene Hill, Susanne Paul, Dolores Prevost and Martha Thompson. Douglas Horton, Bruce Anderson, Edward Lee Russell, Jr., Donny Currey, Dickey Taylor, Nelson Visel, John Moody Sudler, Teddy Palmer, Kenny Tedstrom and Paul Rumph Jr.

Summer Wedding Plans Revealed at Bridge Party

Presiding at a bridge party of bridal appointments Saturday afternoon at the Garden Inn, Mrs. Clara Brucke announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Billie Brucke to George Wheeler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wheeler of Orange.

Wedding bell tallies were complete with ribbon-tied clappers which when opened, proved to contain snapshots of the engaged couple. It was revealed that the wedding will be an event of the summer.

Large white wedding bells at each table gave special directions for card play. George Wheeler's sister, Mrs. Lloyd Horal scored high at bridge, and was rewarded with a compact. Miss Jean Berger was consoling with a pair of finger towels.

Tables were spread with pastel-lit luncheon and centered with spring bouquets at the refreshment hour, when a salad and sandwich course was served.

Miss Doris Rockwell, fiancée of Roy Wheeler, another son of the event. Others in the group Frank Wheelers, were present for included Mrs. Brucke, Miss Brucke, Mrs. Frank Wheeler and the Misses Jean Berger, Eunice Hoffman, Mary Jane Dodd, Opha Coulson, Irene Ross, Barbara Berger, Helen Glancy, Dorothea Blakelee; Mesdames Norman McClay, Nettie Shuey, Lloyd Horal, O. K. Forgy, William Fritcher, Madge Christensen, an aunt of Mr. Wheeler, all of this community; Miss Phyllis Pollett, Mrs. Frank Pennington, Whittier; Miss Mildred Loudon, Anaheim.

Miss Brucke has been in newspaper work in this city since completing her studies at the local junior college three years ago. She was a member of the Jaycee Moav club. She attended Fullerton junior college following graduation from Whittier High school. George Wheeler, a graduate of Orange Union High school, is employed at Villa Park.

Bridge Players Enjoy Novel Gift Award

Entertaining her bridge club last week in her home, 915 Orange street, Miss Rosalind Schilling chose a unique way of awarding prizes.

When tallies were distributed, each guest was allowed to take her choice from a tray of interesting looking packages wrapped in brown and gold. At the end of each round of bridge holders of high score were allowed to choose any of the gifts from their fellow members, until the close of play. Then scores were checked, and the fortunate high winners, Miss Dorothy Dunbar and Miss Marjorie Berkner were allowed to take their choice of the gifts, remaining packages being retained by their holders.

Refreshments of chicken salad, hot rolls and coffee were served to the guests at a late hour. Appointments included a wealth of ranunculuses and sweet peas from the Schilling gardens.

Present were Mesdames Paul Reynolds, Clyde Higgins, Allan Carstenson, and the Misses Dorothy Dunbar, Helen Demetrious, Florence Turner, May Hasenjaeger, Marjorie Berkner, Miriam Samuelson, a guest, Miss Marie Moog, and the hostess, Miss Rosalind Schilling.

Classmates Share in "Backwards" Party

Sharing the affair with a group of her high school classmates, Miss Betty Ann McAuley was hostess at a "backwards" party Friday night in the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. John McAuley, 627 Orange avenue.

Observing the evening's theme, guests wore their frocks backwards. Games of appropriate nature were played. Dessert course, followed by the serving of sandwiches, featured the refreshment interval.

Present with Mrs. McAuley and Miss Betty Ann McAuley were the Misses Shirley Wolven, Lola Barney, Bertha Brooks, Helen Upchurch, Virginia Valentine, Shirley Carr, Mildred Kuykendall, Mildred Mooney, Mary Pappas, Jane Dale, La Vonne Ferrell, Dorothy Ferrell, Frances Hartman.

Junior Ebell Achieves Success With Spring Fashion Revue

Congratulations upon the success of the annual Junior Ebell Fashion tea given Saturday afternoon in Ebell clubhouse, today were being extended to Mrs. Burd Frederick Zaiser, who is general chairman, carried to triumphant success the party with its Palm Beach setting.

Mrs. Don Park, Junior Ebell president, and Mrs. Zaiser, with others on the working committee, expressed the style motif of the afternoon as they received their guests. Mrs. Park wore embroidered French organdy of so delicate a rose tone that it barely escaped being white. Mrs. Zaiser wore crisp ruffled organdy in cinnamon brown.

Prominent among decorations were screens with colored sketches of smart modes, the work of Mrs. Zaiser. Modernistic palm trees in block print adorned the raffia-tied tully cards prepared by Mrs. George Walker. Mrs. F. F. Mead Jr. and Mrs. George Hayden. Soon after bridge play began, the fashion parade was launched to music played by Miss Helen Glancy and Miss Lorraine Turk.

Styles shown through the courtesy of different Santa Ana merchants began with bathing suits, beach shorts and slacks, and continued with prints and wash frocks for house, outing and afternoon wear. These in turn gave place to trim tailored suits, afternoon frocks and starched chiffon evening gowns. Pretty hats to accompany costumes for street wear, and correct footwear for every occasion were shown. Hand knitted garments ranged from sweaters and dresses to a formal evening gown.

Mrs. Gall Jordan and her committee had selected as models, the Misses Mary Safley, Anne Tarver, Caroline Ferrey, Mesdames Alvin Stauffer, Robert Guild, Wayne Harrison, Leland Finley, Robert Hull, Karl Loersch Jr., Albert Harvey and Francis Norton. Mrs. A. G. Sage, who was to have been of the group, was unable to be present because of illness.

Climaxing the parade was the distribution of bridge prizes and the tea hour. Mrs. John Eberole and Mrs. Thoburn White had selected Mexican glass prizes, and holder of high score at each table chose a piece from trays presented by members of the Girls Ebell society. Girls Ebell also passed trays of home-made candy throughout the afternoon. Miss, planned for and sipped by Frances Bowman and her committee, added some $15 to the party proceeds.

Mrs. Roscoe Conklin and her committee served walnut ice cream roll with home-made cookies and tea, and like other committees, shared with Mrs. Zaiser and Mrs. Park the congratulations of the guests. These chairmen included also Mrs. Kemper Taylor, publicity; Mrs. Robert Guild, tickets; Mrs. George Bradley, tables. Party proceeds are to go to the college loan fund, so a pleasant afternoon for nearly 300 women will continue to bring joy in the future to deserving students.

Girl Reserve Clubs Present Fashion Tea

Girl Reserve clubs of the two junior high schools joined in presenting a fashion tea Friday afternoon in the Y. W. rooms. One hundred and twenty mothers and friends of the hostesses took part in the event.

Mrs. Enid Case of Los Angeles displayed feminine apparel suitable for various occasions, giving a talk on spring styles.

Miss Mary Porter, Girl Reserve secretary, announced dates for two Girl Reserve camps to be held this summer. The first will be June 15 to 22 at Camp Torqua, Catalina Island; the second, August 17 to 24 at Y. M. C. A. Camp Oceola.

Miss Margaret Jaberg played violin solos, accompanied by Mrs. Southard. Miss Carol Miller gave readings. Miss Ella Haid did tap dances, accompanied by Miss Pauline Cave.

Refreshments were served, with Miss Lena Thomas, Girl Reserve chairman, and Mrs. William Wells pouring tea.

E. M. Waycott, club director, has invited those interested, to attend tonight's rehearsal when plans for future work will be outlined.

Ebell Household Group Elects Officers

Officers were elected Thursday afternoon at a meeting of Ebell Third Household Economics section held in the clubhouse following a 1 o'clock luncheon. Mrs. F. T. Preble was named leader; Mrs. E. L. Morrison, assistant leader; Mrs. R. G. Sutton, secretary.

Luncheon hostesses were Mesdames W. B. Williams, E. H. Prince and J. H. Walker. Nasturtiums brightened tables. Sweet peas and stocks decked the lounge.

Mrs. F. L. Andrews, leader, conducted the meeting. "Canned Goods for the Kitchen" was the program theme, with Ben Manker as speaker on the subject. He was introduced by Mrs. W. B. Williams.

"Pest Control in the Home" will be discussed at the May meeting, when hostesses will be Mesdames F. M. Robinson, C. W. Rairdon and A. C. Bowers.

Elks' Wives Take Part In Card Party

Flowers, tapers and other spring-time appointments in pastel hues added their charms to Elks' clubhouse Friday afternoon when a monthly card party was given for wives and friends of Santa Ana B. P. O. 15 members.

Hostesses were Mesdames Floyd Howard, E. L. Vagley, Parke Roper and Donald G. Jerome. Mrs. R. E. Walker is social chairman of the year.

Prizes in contract bridge were won by Mrs. C. E. Bressler and Mrs. Harvey Gardner, scoring first and second high. Mrs. Dorothy Thomas and Mrs. C. Claude Ream were rewarded for first and second high scores at auction bridge.

Dainty cakes with frostings in pastel tints were served at the afternoon's close. Tea was poured by Mesdames James Metzgar, Harvey Gardner and A. Garroway.

THE TINYMIES

"You see, all you Tummies were not bad. I thought, at first, you were the ones who tied me to the ground."

"I can't imagine falling for the little trick. It makes me sore. I guess I'll catch the monkeys and then spank them good and sound."

The monkeys heard him, and they shrieked, as higher in the trees they sneaked. One shouted down, "You can't catch us. You may as well not try."

"We've had our share of fun today. I guess we will be on our way. If you come to our monkey land, we'll see you by and by."

Woe Scouty, in the meantime, had rushed to a tree. The brave young lad intended climbing 'way up high to grab a monkey's tail. The monkey saw him, and he cried, "Right to the ground you'd better slide, 'cause even though

THE HELP FOR TAXATION DIFFICULTIES

We hope the legislature will differentiate between an income tax on the profits of corporations and an income tax on individuals.

Corporations, which are engaged in the production of goods of any kind, are adding to the wealth of the world. They should have every encouragement to do so.

As long as they use surplus to continue to make larger and better and cheaper production, the government should aid them, rather than penalize them.

A tax of any kind on their income is fundamentally unsound. But the moment this money is distributed to individuals, and becomes a part of their personal income, the income tax is not only justifiable, but is sound economics.

This does not tend to handicap production. It is generally considered that corporations are better able to pay the tax, possibly, than individuals, and by taxing them, the tax is made at the source.

But the corporations do not spend, in their productive character, for consumptive goods and destroy them. They are making things for consumption—they are adding to the world's well-being and every encouragement should be afforded them.

If they are permitted to reinvest for larger production, the people receive the benefit in cheaper prices. And if it is unprofitable for them to make further investment, they then can distribute their surplus and must distribute it to their stockholders.

Then the state can claim its share in the interests of society.

We do not believe that a tax that discriminates against any particular business is a fair or just tax.

Taxpayers should be on the basis of equality before the law.

The legislature is forced to pass a tax measure very shortly, and rather than observing principles, it will probably be found that they have attempted to place the tax where it is likely to protect them from the largest number of dissatisfied people.

There is no question that the situation is bewildering. Most of the legislators have made little study of taxation problems.

But they have made a very thorough study of how to get elected and to keep elected.

The threats, which are being made by various organizations, to leave the state in case certain legislation is enacted may or may not be carried out. How much bluff there is in them no one can tell.

But if such threats should be carried out and there should be a general exodus from one state to another, and back and forth, as each state is forced to do certain things in taxation to meet the mounting expenses, the remedy which we have suggested before will be steadily emphasized.

We will have uniform taxation throughout the country. State lines, in respect to taxation, will be obliterated. Nothing should be gained by moving from one state to another to avoid taxation.

MAJORITY'S WISHES SHOULD RULE

Today finishes the campaign which has been very strenuous from the standpoint of the candidates.

The general report is that it has been difficult to awaken interest in the people.

There was one issue which seemed to be very clear. A group of men has been running for the city council which has been opposed to appropriations from the city treasury to private organizations.

The other group has rather shown evidences that they believe this would be perfectly legitimate. Some of their open supporters have been people who believe this is a very just and fair use of public money.

We cannot help believing that the election of one or the other group will indicate how the majority of the citizens feel upon that proposition.

We have expressed our opinion frankly and fully, but we want to say that we believe in democracy.

Four years ago, we were rather standing for the council which was opposed by the taxpayers' organization and we found that the majority of the people were opposed to such expenditure. And we learned the reason very clearly following that time.

If the sentiment of the "folks" is changed, they will say so. The majority will rule.

The mandate from the people should be carried out.

We believe, in any case, all should abide by and support those whom the majority of the people select.

STRANGE SITUATION IN THE UNITED STATES

Norman Thomas has sent a challenge to debate to Father Coughlin and Senator Huey Long.

He declares, in his challenge, that he is not representing the side which General Johnson takes, whom he declares in his letter of challenge is "dead," and he says the only thing "left alive" in Johnson is "his voice and vocabulary."

Mr. Thomas challenges Long and Father Coughlin that they are heading the country toward Fascism and this is the proposition that he desires to discuss.

We are afraid that Mr. Thomas will not have his challenge accepted, though it would be a mighty interesting discussion and probably very illuminating.

But the point is that Father Coughlin and Senator Long would be sharing their audiences with Mr. Thomas. It would give Mr. Thomas a hearing that he otherwise would not get, while whatever followers Mr. Thomas had would not be affected by any of the arguments of either the priest or the senator.

The reason for this is that neither of them have a program, other than what one might call a "personal" one, which will appeal to the people.

"Sharing the wealth" has a real appeal to the poor, and without seeing how Senator Long proposes to do it, they are likely to be carried away by his emphasis and personality.

Mr. Thomas is not after a public office. While he has been a candidate many times, he has been a candidate as an exponent of his Socialistic ideas and not with the expectation of election.

If Mr. Thomas would have as his aim the votes of the people, rather than educating them in the doctrines of Socialism, he might be a strong competitor for popular acclaim.

It is a strange situation in which the country finds itself. Our leading economists throughout the country have pointed out, with almost unanimous agreement, the conditions in which we are, and that which caused the conditions.

But because they also agree that something more radical than has yet been suggested is probably the way out, and that to announce themselves for any such program would injure the institutions with which they are connected, and jeopardize their own places, they are refusing to do it.

Our present order is capitalism and democracy. It is through democracy that we hope the real solution can be found.

But it is a serious matter when those who are leaders in democracy, and who have been teaching us economic principles, dare not come out for a national program, even based upon democracy, because of fear of our industrial leadership.

PRODUCTION AND RELIEF PROBLEM

A dispatch from San Francisco declares that the co-operatives of the unemployed, which are engaged in the production of food, clothing and other articles in California, have received a pledge of financial support by the State Emergency Relief commission.

It approved, so the news dispatches tell us, of the allotment of $5,000,000 of relief funds for these groups.

This amount will, as near as we understand it, be granted to these groups as loans. And they will be paid, however, in goods which they will make and these goods, in turn, will be used for other relief purposes.

The supervisors and purchasing agents of California counties were urged to aid in this program by using these things which are manufactured.

One would think, to read these dispatches, that Upton Sinclair were directing the movements of the relief commission, for this was practically his whole program.

Roger Babson, after reciting the general conditions of the country, the other day said: "We will have to cut down on this money that is being paid out and produce more."

We should take it that the relief commission of the state is acting upon this theory—they figure if those, who are now dependent upon taxes for their support, can use these funds as capital investment to produce their necessities, that the taxpayer will be relieved from the continuance of payment to these groups.

We do not see how, in the light of the fact that the unemployed are not being absorbed in industry, that we can avoid the action which the State Relief commission here suggests.

We must either be prepared to pay them, as we are now paying them, which amounts must finally come from taxation, or we must have them in some form produce for themselves.

Production creates wealth. The way we are now operating these millions are not producing wealth, but consuming it.

Under some such plan they will produce as well as consume. The country will be richer thereby.

Searching For Security

New York Times

Ever since the World War the desire and purpose of all nations have been expressed in one way or another to make an end of large-scale war by assuring each one of its national security. Why has this attempt failed? That it cannot succeed for the present, whether through the League of Nations or separate treaties and alliances, is now pretty generally agreed in Europe. That explains why there has been a sudden and almost concerted movement to enlarge and strengthen armaments.

Plainly implied is the fear that peaceful plans will not work out. Even when it is proposed, as it is said to be just now in Great Britain, to draw up a "Pan-European" agreement to prevent aggressive warfare and give each nation a justified sense of security, doubts and apprehensions remain. This is because, unfortunately, the good faith and honesty of Governments are not trusted if an emergency tempts them to break their agreement.

This is perhaps the most deplorable result of the arbitrary and reckless course which Germany has recently been pursuing with reference to her national obligations. It is not merely a case of lowering her own prestige. It provokes questions and suspicions everywhere. Is a solemn national agreement to be of no more value than a dice's oath? Then there is no assuring peace merely by written pledges. You must look to your military defenses. And if words in a treaty are to be subject to a juggling interpretation, of what use is pledged faith against a war of "aggression"? The aggressor is certain to maintain that his war is purely defensive. So it was in 1914 and so it will be again, unless forms of security that are to be depended upon can be found. They cannot be unless there is the firmest belief, based upon experience, that a nation will change not even if it swears to its own hurt. It is the shaking of the international morale for which Germany is to be chiefly blamed during the past few weeks. She has shown the world once more that without truth there can be no security.

More Truth Than Poetry

DEBUNKING THE EARLY ROBIN

I'm sick of early robins;
When they began to sing
I've said: "At last
The winter's past
And this is glorious Spring.
No more the hail will patter
Upon the cold damp ground
In dale and dell.
All will be well;
The robins are around."

I shed my winter flannels
And confidently say:
"These birds are wise.
They know the skies
Will soon be garbed like May.
Delightful little prophets,
They cheer about my door:
The skies are bright
The world's all right.
For Spring is here once more."

And then the chill cold blizzard
Comes roaring from the North
The wood and wold
And bleak and cold;
No robin issues forth.
Don't trust the little rascals,
But stoke your cheery fires.
Too soon you'll find
All robin kind
Are monumental liars.

PARAGRAPHS

By Robert Quillen

The chief trouble is that our go-getters have become let-the-government-do-it-ers.

Private industry should pay more. When it hires a man, it doesn't need five others to get his pay to him.

Still, pensions will deprive old people of a lot of travel. They won't be shipped from son to daughter to son.

People must believe in the Townsend plan. You don't hear so many saying they haven't got room for the old folks.

You aren't really getting old until you begin to feel bad today because you were sick yesterday.

IT'S ALL A GAMBLE. NO MATTER HOW GREAT A MAN IS, THE SIZE OF THE FUTURE CROWD DEPENDS ON THE WEATHER.

Making an income tax return is simple. You just guess at it and wait for the adjuster to come around and fix it up his way.

It takes time to put over a new deal. You've got to wait for the old Federal judges to die.

Promising a measly $2,500 to each voter won't get Huey any place because some other candidate will over-promise him before he can turn around.

AMERICANISM: Jail the little quack who practices without a license; allowing big shots to sell rat poison as a cancer cure if the label doesn't lie.

Recipe for acquiring the big jitters: think, "What if I had always got what I wanted?"

We have often suspected that certain hunters go to Africa to hunt lions because they can't hit rabbits.

Famous last words: "Cheer up, you guys with no occupations. Look at all the occupational diseases you're escaping."

BUT IF ANYBODY IS SIMPLE ENOUGH TO BUY REDUCING PILLS, HOW DID HE EVER GET MONEY ENOUGH TO GET FAT?

Advertising hunch: Hire Huey Long to publicly knock your product.

What this country needs, as any girder-maker will tell you: A constitution with a two-way stretch.

However, if the Supreme Court gets too rambunctious F. D. R. will probably cook up a Supreme Court and go right ahead.

How to keep from getting old: Call a philatelist a "stamp collector" to his face.

CORRECT THIS SENTENCE: "I KNOW IT'S RELIABLE," SAID SHE, "FOR IT'S ADVERTISED IN ONE OF THE BEST MAGAZINES."

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

THE SECRET SPRINGS OF PROGRESS

We may witness the making of profoundly significant decisions by the American masses in 1936. A medley of competing pleas will beat about our ears. Democrats and Republicans will woo the voting millions. Statesmen and demagogues will cross swords. The lash of fear and the lure of hope will both be employed.

What will finally decide the way the masses will go?

Will hunger dictate?

Will sheer reason dictate?

Will some glamorous dream, either rooted in or divorced from reality, dictate?

As we head towards the 1936 campaign, it becomes important that leaders and followers alike give attention to the secret springs from which the motive force of the national will may come.

Rene Fulp Miller has written a colorful and thought-packed volume of 464 pages that throws a brilliant illumination over what moves whole peoples to act when they come to critical junctures in their affairs.

The book is called Leaders, Dreamers, and Rebels. It is an account of the great mass-movements of history and the wish-dreams that inspired them.

Volumes beyond number have been written to prove that the secret springs of progress are to be found in man's struggles to satisfy their material needs.

Still other volumes seek to discover some driving spiritual force as the motive power of history.

But there is a third force, in Miller's judgment, that works ceaselessly to decide human fate quite as much as do material necessity and spiritual ideals.

This third force is the power of dreams.

It is, he thinks, through dreams alone that both bodily need and spiritual power take on that magical power that enables them to weave a spell over the minds of the millions and actually change the face of history.

The great dreamer who fashions a vision that hypnotizes the mass mind may be driven by a sense of the material needs of the millions and drawn by some spiritual ideal, but it is his vision that makes his faith contagious, puts iron into the mass will, and gives the compelling power of suggestion to his crusade.

While we are watching the more conventional maneuvers of the Democratic and Republican forces, it will pay us to keep a weather eye out for the rise of some leader or dreamer or rebel who will flash a vision before the people that will magnetize them into a crusade.

Read Rene Fulp Miller for background for your watching of the political and economic show during the next eighteen months.

Our Children

HER BICYCLE

Katherine wanted a wheel so she saved her money to buy it. Her mother knew she was saving for the wheel but she said nothing about it hoping that she would change her mind before the time came. Katherine did not change her mind. Every penny that came her way, that could be spared from necessities, went into the bank for the wheel. She counted the money almost daily until the great day came when there was the exact amount on hand. "I can buy it now, mother. Will you come with me this afternoon?" I want it for Saturday, please.

"Now, Katherine, you know that you can't have a wheel."

"What? Why I've saved up the money for it. You surely wouldn't say I couldn't have it now, mother."

"You'd be run over. There are too many accidents. How would I feel if you went out on a wheel and got hurt? What would I have to say to myself then? I'd never have a minute's peace if you had a wheel. Now don't say another word about it. I can't argue about it. I don't want you to ride a wheel."

Now what? It seems to me that when a child says he is saving to buy something then is the time to say "yes" or "no" and not after the saving is complete and the child ready to make the purchase. And what about the wheel? It is a great pleasure for boys and girls. A fine exercise. It takes them into the air and gives them a chance to go places, something every healthful boy and girl must long to do.

There are certain sections of cities and towns that are dangerous for wheels, even for pedestrians. There are other places where children may ride their wheels with a maximum of safety if they are half way careful. When this is so, the wheel ought to be allowed. I do not relish the notion that our healthy boys and girls cannot take care of themselves on a reasonably safe road. I dread to rear children who are in fear and trembling all their days. A dash of daring, an acquired skill in handling themselves in emergencies is right and greatly to be desired for them. Let us not say "No" until we have carefully surveyed the possibilities.

Lovett authorized the statement that the Southern Pacific would have a new station in Los Angeles at once, either separately or with the other roads.
